II. Committee Reports

B. Intercollegiate Athletics Committee
(The Honorable Mark W. Buyck Jr. reported)

The Intercollegiate Athletics Committee met on September 13, 2013, and Mr. Tanner provided the following information in his report. The Compliance Services Office’s effectiveness placed the University among the top in the country and demonstrated the University’s commitment to integrity.

Major gift revenues totaled $10,250,379 in FY13, well above the $7 million estimate. Most significant was the increase in the number of $1,000 and above donors in FY13 from 91 to 207; and the increase in Gamecock Club memberships from 15,430 in calendar year 2012 to 16,404 as of September 12, 2013. The sale of 51,967 season football tickets reflects an increase of 5.6 percent in 2013 over 2012.

A facilities update was provided on the following projects: Indoor Football Practice Facility; Football Practice Fields; Williams-Brice Stadium Plaza/ETV; Field House Conversion/Indoor Track; Outdoor Track and Field; Soccer Building; Tennis Complex Addition; and Sand Volleyball.

The launch of the new SEC ESPN Network is scheduled for August 2014 and will feature the USC Gamecocks and the Texas A&M Aggies. The Department of Athletics and the School of Journalism and Mass Communications are exploring collaboration opportunities to provide practical work experience for USC students related to the new network.

The achievements of University of South Carolina current and former student athletes and coaches were noted.

The Athletics Department was in the midst of developing a new strategic plan that will include: focusing on its future; affirming its mission and purpose; identifying its core values; aligning with the University's mission; and identifying its goals and objectives. The department is more than halfway through the process and a draft plan is expected to be ready in December 2013.

The Roundhouse building had been torn down to allow for development of the Athletic Village; therefore, a request to relocate the Rex Enright Plaque, which had been displayed in the Roundhouse, to the lobby of the Rice Building was approved by the Buildings and Grounds Committee, and will be considered by the full Board at its meeting today.

Mr. Tanner’s PowerPoint presentation included a statistical report of the student athletes in each of the 16 South Carolina judicial circuits.

At the conclusion of the Mr. Buyck’s report, Mr. Allen asked for a point of personal privilege to introduce a friend and constituent, Moe Brown, a former outstanding receiver on the Carolina football team and a native of Anderson who graduated with a degree in finance and is currently employed with the South Carolina Department of Commerce.
Chairman Warr then returned to the posted agenda order and stated that there were contractual and personnel matters appropriate for executive session and called for a motion to enter executive session. Ms. Moody so moved and Mr. Jones seconded the motion. The vote was taken and the motion carried.

Chairman Warr invited the following persons to remain: Trustees, the Faculty and Student Representatives to the Board, President Pastides, Secretary Stone, Members of the President’s Executive Council, and Dean Wilcox.

III. REPORT OF (THE or MY) CAROLINA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
(The Honorable Robert “Eddie” Brown, president, reported)

Mr. Brown said that the semi-annual Board of Governors and Alumni Council meeting was held on September 27. He said there were three new members of the Board of Governors: Robert Dozier, an at-large member who is a native of Columbia now living in Atlanta and whose son is a freshman at USC; Julie Horton, representing the 4th Congressional District, who is a resident of Easley, South Carolina, and whose daughter is a freshman at USC; and Robin Roberts, an at-large member living in McLean, Virginia, who received the School of Journalism Distinguished Alumni Award in 2004. He noted that the September 27 meeting featured presentations by Vice President for Development and Alumni Affairs Jancy Houck; Jeff Crane from the Gamecock Club; and Russ Meekins from the University Foundations. Other speakers included Cherelle Guyton, chair of the Black Alumni Council, and David Looper, chair of the Young Alumni Council, as well as many others.

The 2013 Homecoming events will be a little different this year, Mr. Brown said, observing that Friday, November 1, would feature a ceremonial groundbreaking for the new alumni association center. He then showed a photo of the former Damon’s restaurant being torn down earlier that day to make way for the new center. The Homecoming Parade will take place at 3 p.m. on November 1 and will include the Lincoln Street site. Instead of an awards banquet, Mr. Brown said that the President would host an event at his home to present awards. Award recipients also would be recognized at halftime of the Mississippi State game on Saturday. Mr. Brown encouraged everyone to visit the My Carolina Alumni Association under the Big Tent at Gamecock Park on Saturday, noting that Homecoming activities would wrap up with the Ring Ceremony on the Horseshoe on Sunday.

Concluding his remarks, Mr. Brown said that the loan closing for construction of the new alumni center was scheduled for October 17. He also noted that TD Bank had changed its scoreboard ad at Williams-Brice Stadium to acknowledge that it would be financing the alumni center. Mr. Brown said the Alumni Association had hired McCrory/Rentenbach Construction as its contractor under a maximum guaranteed contract. He then thanked the Alumni Center Selection Committee for its hard work to pick architects, engineers and others to work on the new alumni center project.
IV. REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

Chairman Warr called on President Pastides who expressed condolences to the family of former Trustee Jerry Beasley who passed away on October 1, echoing comments of Dr. Floyd earlier in the meeting about Mr. Beasley’s impact on the spirit of Carolina. He also recognized the September 24 passing of Coach Paul Dietzel.

President Pastides said that he delivered the State of the University address on the Horseshoe on September 18. He said he reiterated what the University of South Carolina’s identity was today. He summarized with four statements: “We are a globally recognized, high impact research university. We are recognized for a superior student experience. We are committed to developing flexible new models for college access and affordability. We are a vital part of South Carolina’s economic and overall wellbeing.”

President Pastides recapped that during his State of the University address, he called for a new compact with government. The time is right and with the Board’s concurrence, he said, the University boldly asked for a three-year moratorium on tuition increases in return for increased state funding. “We propose that the state provide some level of fresh funding. We call it fair funding, but I truly believe that fair funding will take a lot longer than one year of negotiation,” he said. “We believe in accountability-based funding. We want to be measured; we’re looking at how other states do it. In the meantime, rather than increasing the burden on the families of the state, we’re asking for some level of new support.”

President Pastides described the amount of support as being an amount that would negate the expected tuition increase, as well as the money to cover “pass through mandates” related to any possible pay raise, increase to retirement benefits, or increase to insurance premiums. “Those are not things that we ask for; those are things that are mandated by state government and we would hope to receive the funding for (them) plus a moderate increase to our core budget. With that we would be able to freeze tuition.”

President Pastides said that he had met with the Governor and with leaders in the Senate and House and had received “cautious, tentative support” for his proposal. “Everyone wants to know the details,” he said. “It is a simple concept. It is tuition freeze equals fair funding. I think everybody wants it, we would stop the finger pointing and we would begin to move back toward fair funding for the University of South Carolina.”

The Palmetto Business Forum and others have met with President Pastides and are asking how they can help. Newspapers around the state also have responded well, President Pastides said, quoting an editorial from the Rock Hill Herald, “We’re hopeful that Pastides’ offer and pressure from the Governor... and like-minded lawmakers can help refocus attention on the need to both increase state support for higher education and relieve the relentless rise in tuition costs for students. Both are needed to sustain the quality of South Carolina’s colleges and universities, and to ensure that qualified students at all economic levels will be able to afford to go to college.”

Continuing his report, President Pastides said that it had been a great week for women at the University of South Carolina and for women in philanthropy.

“We welcomed Vice President Jancy Houck who started to work recently. Earlier this week we announced a gift from Marva Smalls of Florence who added $1 million to the $5 million that had been previously donated by Darla Moore and the $5 million that had been previously donated by Anita Zucker to create the state’s foremost aerospace R&D programs. It was amazing to see Darla, Anita, and Marva standing side by side as we installed the first Ronald D. McNair Endowed Chair.

“But it didn’t end there,” he said. “This morning we thanked Donna Walker, an alumna from the USC pharmacy program currently living in San Diego, as she announced a $525,000 gift to create leadership opportunities for students in the pharmacy school.”

President Pastides said that directly following the meeting, he would greet a record number of parents attending Parents Weekend. On Saturday afternoon, he said, the University would host a party for 10,000 parents accompanied by their students at a massive tailgate before the game.

V. OTHER MATTERS

Since there were no other matters to come before the Board, Chairman Warr declared the meeting adjourned at 12:30 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Amy E. Stone
Secretary
