

Executive Summary

Blueprint for Academic Excellence School of Music AY2017-2018

Introduction

The School of Music is a vibrant comprehensive unit of great activity and achievement, both in quality & breadth. 2016-17 has been another outstanding year of exemplary production and learning accomplishment in music. We are poised for even greater future national recognition for our vision and our leadership to create the best and most relevant 21st Century Music School possible by pursuing excellence in traditional musical realms and in newly emerging ones where we have staked a claim already as both a trendsetter and a model.

Highlights

- The School has in recent years implemented means to make its operating budget sustainable, largely by controlling costs, adding new dollars strategically through faculty retentions, increased external philanthropy, and support from CFO and Provost offices for initiatives, as well as with careful internal budgeting & planning. This plan embraces both the conventional and the new as the School surges on to meeting its Vision.

Foundation for Academic Excellence

Mission Statement

Music is an essential component of the human experience. The University of South Carolina School of Music exists to transform lives through excellence in music teaching, performance, creative activities, research, and service. Toward these ends, the school endeavors to meet five tenets:

1. Prepare musicians for professional careers and leadership in music teaching, performance, composition, research and related fields
2. Serve as a cultural and educational center of excellence for the State of South Carolina and the nation
3. Generate research and other creative activities in music that have local, national and international impact
4. Provide meaningful music experiences for all University students through courses designed to foster an awareness of the role of music in society
5. Enhance the University of South Carolina's commitment to become one of the finest public universities in America

Updated: 08/18/2015

Vision Statement

The USC School of Music seeks to be a model public higher education music school for America.

To be a model public music school our unit must:

Be the music school that our students and our university require;

Be the music school that our state requires;

Be the music school that our art and our society require.

To achieve this vision, the School of Music has articulated its core values and has initiated a planning process to fully embrace these values by recognizing goals and actions that manifest the values, and to do so over the next ten years, 2015-2025.

Values

CORE VALUES:

Excellence.

Student success.

The Preparation of Music Leaders.

The Preparation of Musicians as Educators & Educators as Musicians.

The Preparation of Diversely Skilled Musicians

Goals - Looking Back

Goals for the School of Music for the previous Academic Year.

Goal 1 - Enhance Teaching, Learning and Achievement

Goal Statement	The School of Music will continue to enhance quality teaching, learning, & achievement in faculty, student, program/research development.
Linkage to University Goal	Educating the Thinkers and Leaders of Tomorrow Assembling a World-Class Faculty of Scholars, Teachers, and Practitioners Spurring Knowledge and Creation Building Inclusive and Inspiring Communities Ensuring Institutional Strength, Longevity, and Excellence
Alignment with Mission, Vision, and Values	The School continues to hire the very best available candidates for replacement and new positions. A significant jump in quality was made in 2014-15 with the hire of a new horn and viola Associate Professors of national renown and proven track records of outstanding performance skills and superior pedagogical reputations. The School experienced great success with our chamber music program in 2014, including guest artist residencies: most especially with the Parker Quartet through the prestigious Guarneri Quartet Chamber Music America grant and numerous philanthropic gifts, including a $100,000 endowment challenge/match gift. That challenge, and other aggressive fund raising activity has been developed into an annual giving campaign that has resulted in over $35,000 in private gifts and grants for 2015 and beyond, and $30,000 towards the endowment challenge/match, for which we have four years. Also of note are a partnership with Chamber Music America for the School of Music, its SPARK leadership laboratory, and The Savvy Musician in Action Workshop's Innovative Chamber Music Production Competition when we are honored with the recognition to present the Society's national pre-conference day in NYC in Jan 2016. Our new MM in Violin Pedagogy was approved in 2014 and is slated to begin offer in F2016 when a new faculty member to administer it is on board. The School is awarding now over $6000 each year through competitive grants to students who wish to travel abroad in the summer to fulfill their articulated goals musical growth and achievement. The new Johnson Performance Hall in the Moore School has been a boon to the School. Though not used with great frequency in its first year while the bugs are fixed in lighting, sound, and appointments, the hall will be increasingly used to deliver music to larger audiences in outstanding acoustical settings. Key Performance Parameters addressed: Teaching Excellence; R/S/P Reputation & Productivity Fully utilize the capabilities of the Johnson Performance Hall Begin developing a greater on-line presence for some of its course work in advanced degrees where applicable.

Academic Programs

Program Rankings

Academic programs that were nationally ranked or received external recognition during the Academic Year.

Music units are not nationally ranked. But, among peers in music faculties in America, it is generally considered that our doctoral programs in Choral Conducting, Wind Conducting and Orchestral Conduction are seen as among the top ten in the nation among public schools. Our Piano Pedagogy is ionj the top three.

Top ten public comprehensive colleges of music: Indiana; Michigan; Cincinnati; North Texas; Florida State; Illinois; Texas-Austin; Arizona State; as for comprehensive schools, South Carolina might now be #10, or certainly among a handful at this spot (see peers below)...

Peers: Oregon; Colorado; Kansas; Oklahoma; Michigan State; Wisconsin; Penn State

Instructional Modalities

Innovations and changes to Instructional Modalities in unit's programmatic and course offerings that were implemented during the Academic Year.

MUSC 115 Music Theory I (3)

MUSC 116 Music Theory II (3)

Innovations to flipped classroom model include increased emphasis on active learning (additional video lecture content, new modus of administering standards based exams)

MUSC 130 Ensemble (1)

Innovation to modality in offering existing course as a study abroad option in Italy

MUSC 210 Understanding the Psychology of Music (3)

New distributed learning course satisfying Carolina Core Requirement GSS.

MUSC 498 Music Practicum (1)

Change in maximum number of credit hours allowed in course to be taken multiple times.

MUSC 577 Vocal Pedagogy (2)

Innovation to modality in offering existing course as a study abroad option in Italy

MUED 793 New Directions in Music Education (3)

New distributed learning course

MUED 795 Research in Music Education and Pedagogy (3)

Innovations to flipped classroom model include compilation of eBooks as a supplement to classroom lectures and interactive on-line Q&A sessions.

Addition of Special Topics Courses

MUSC 726 Modality to Tonality (3) (Constructing Common-Practice Harmony) (Spring 2017)

Academic Initiatives

Experiential Learning for Undergraduates

Initiatives, improvements, challenges, and progress with Experiential Learning at the Undergraduate level.

Experiential learning is at the core of the teaching in the School of Music. Music students are continually engaged in experiential learning experiences in a multitude of circumstances. We have traditionally used experiential learning as a model for much of our instruction, but have also made great progress in incorporating experiential learning into innovations in our curricula. In our new performance degrees, students will gain even greater experiential learning via creative projects that include many aspects of a musician's professional life, beyond the traditional educational values. Our recently adopted core values emphasize this experiential learning. Examples of experiential learning as applied in our curricula include the following:

- o Active teaching: (Active experimentation and Concrete experience)
 - a. Student Teaching (MUED). Students practice teach under the supervision of USC faculty and experienced cooperative teachers in public schools.
 - b. Community Music School - Music students teach young aspiring musicians in a private lesson setting
 - c. New Horizons Band - Music students teach adult learners in private lessons
 - d. Graduate students (GAs) actively teach in the classroom and applied lessons.
 - e. Piano undergraduate students take MUSC 575L in 2016-17, which is internship in piano pedagogy, teaching private and group classes.
- o Applied lessons: (Reflective Observation, Abstract conceptualization, Active experimentation and Concrete experience)
 - a. Students are regularly asked to comment and critique performances in Studio Class, learning the art of listening and teaching.
 - b. Much of the applied emphasis is on teaching students to teach themselves. Students are expected to learn problem-solving skills. (Independent reflection)
 - c. Applied lessons - teachers offer individual assessments of students' work (Facilitated reflection)
- o Performance Skills: (Active experimentation, Concrete experience, and Reflective Observation)
 - a. Recital attendance requirement - students learn recital etiquette and many performance-related skills by attending concerts. They are required to attend 10 recitals per semester, plus Recital class for five semesters.

b. Chamber music involves self-coaching, learning a variety of skills: listening, leadership, cooperation with peers, performance-related skills, etc.

c. Performances - solo recitals, chamber and large ensembles - teach the students to perform in front of an audience

d. Students are encouraged to speak about the works they perform, learning public speaking and research skills.

o Academic classes: (Reflective Observation, Abstract conceptualization, Active experimentation and Concrete experience)

a. Theory - students work through experiential learning in theory classes, by writing exercises, using the harmonic motion, etc. that they study.

b. History - listening to music examples of the styles they are studying

c. Both The SAVVY Arts Venture Challenge and MUSC 580 (Entrepreneurship in Music/The Arts) provide experiential leaning opportunities. Participants learn about entrepreneurship by building an arts based business from the ground up. They are required to conduct customer research, construct financial models, build prototypes, and pitch to judges.

d. Music Education: (Reflective Observation)

i. 1. MUED 200 (Music Education Practicum) students observe early childhood, elementary, middle school, and high school music classes in local public schools.

ii. 2. MUED 552 (The High School Band) students observe local high school band rehearsals.

o Professional Fraternities: (Reflective Observation, Abstract conceptualization, Active experimentation and Concrete experience)

a. MTNA Collegiate Chapter provides opportunities for experiential learning in a variety of formats:

i. Leadership Training of Officers

ii. Musicaré program - sensory-friendly concerts, music learning experiences for residents in elder care and alzheimers/dementia care

iii. Research Posters at SCMTA and MTNA conference

iv. Presentations at SCMTA and MTNA conference

v. Adjudication at local and state performance events

vi. Students receive training for all of these things, and reflective assignments are completed as part of coursework or presentations.

vii. MUSC 776 Special Needs

viii. Students observe and assist in lessons for students with autism and other special needs. They complete reflective assignments on their for as part of their grade.

Experiential Learning For Graduate & Professional Students

Initiatives, improvements, challenges, and progress with Experiential Learning at the Graduate or Professional level.

The USC School of Music continues to be a national leader in the creation of programs that provide experiential learning opportunities for our students. Student enrolled in graduate music programs are regularly involved in the Children's Music

Development Center, the USC Youth Choir, the Carolina Opera Experience (summer), the New Horizons Band Program, the USC String Project, the Center for Piano Studies, the Carolina Summer Conservatory, and the Carolina Music Studios (formerly known as the Community Music School). Special outreach programs take our musicians and music into settings like the V.A. Hospital, the Richland County Public Library, area senior living communities, and the Lee County Correctional Institution.

In addition to these campus activities, many graduate students are also involved as unpaid and paid interns and professionals in church music programs, public and private school music programs, retail music stores, and music teaching academies.

Affordability

Assessment of affordability and efforts to address affordability.

The School of Music charges the same tuition to all of its students that the rest of the campus academic units do, with just a few exceptions. We offer nearly $900,000 annually of undergrad financial merit-based aid in School of Music dollars, and spend in excess of $1.1M on grad student aid all in an effort to make expensive music study more affordable for our 420-430 majors and 500 or so other students who take music classes and contribute to musical activities in the School.

Reputation Enhancement

Contributions and achievements that enhance the reputation of USC Columbia regionally and nationally.

The School of Music is revered nationally and internationally when it comes to music entrepreneurship, innovation, and leadership. Beyond the progressive work happening on our campus and in our community every day, this reputation has been enhanced by a number of high profile events.

In June 2016, the USC School of Music conceived led a summit sponsored by College Music Society focused on 21st Century Music School Design, addressing how music in higher education might evolve in a quickly changing world. We were able to accommodate 250 visitors from every United State, Canada, Europe, and Australia, and wound up turning away hundreds of interested individuals because of space restrictions. The roster of participants was like a who's who in music higher ed.

In January 2015, we led a sold out pre-conference day for the Chamber Music America conference in New York City called

Marketing Chamber Music: A SAVVY Strategy for Success. The only other music school ever invited to do this was Eastman (generally considered the top program in the country).

Each summer since 2013, we have hosted the world's leading arts entrepreneurship workshop The SAVVY Arts Venture Challenge. In the first four years, this attracted 250 participants from 39 states and 9 countries.

Our international SAVVY Chamber Competition is the only such content that values 1) artistic excellence and 2) innovative event design. Each summer, 3-5 finalist ensembles compete for a $10,000 grand prize in the final round in Columbia. World-class groups to advance have come from as far as New York, Washington DC, California, Poland, France, Canada, and Spain.

A number of other programs and initiatives also enhance our reputation nationally and internationally. A sampling include:

Regular and visible faculty participation at national and international conference/organizations such as National Association of Schools of Music (Tayloe Harding is national Secretary), American String Teachers Association (Robert Jesselson) is past-president, Music Teachers National Association (David Cutler is the featured keynote in 2017), National Association for Music Education, and National Conference on Keyboard Pedagogy (Scott Price is currently President of the Board), Pi Kappa Lambda (Tayloe Harding is president), and College Music Society (Tayloe Harding is past-president) and numerous others.

Consistent history of publications and recordings by faculty.

The Southeastern Piano Festival brings 20 talented high school pianists to Columbia each summer, along with some of the most famous pianists alive.

The String Project, which began at USC, is now a model for the country (where its structure has been adopted by more than 40 universities nationally).

Band Clinic brings hundreds of high school students to campus each February for a packed weekend of musical events. A number of other events geared towards high schoolers regionally also occur each year, such as Double Reed Day and Chamber Music Day.

National/international profile musical artists regularly visit campus to perform on our renowned Southern Exposure New Music series and other programs. Recent residencies have featured the Grammy award winning groups like the Parker

String Quartet and Imani Winds, as well as influential artists such as Pulitzer Prize winner William Bolcom.

Challenges

Challenges and resource needs anticipated for the current and upcoming Academic Years, not noted elsewhere in this report and/or those which merit additional attention.

Financial aid remains our major need. Our awards have not keep pace with tuition inflation at the grad or undergrad levels and we fall further behind our competition in most years as a result.

Faculty Development

Efforts at Faculty Development, including investments, activities, incentives, objectives, and outcomes.

Optional

The Dean's office provides $100,000 in faculty travel aid for faculty of all kinds to attend conferences, do research and performance, and to take student groups out for local/regional, and national/international performances/tours.

Over the past 5 years, we have organized three faculty retreats with specific outcomes that will help our school progress and cultivate faculty development. These team-based, interactive meeting have led to new initiatives and the defining of 3

Distinctive Priorities unique to our school: leadership, performers-as-educators and educators-as-performers, and diversely skilled musicians.

We launched Teaching Innovation Grants to encourage faculty to work collaboratively and take some chances, while marrying outcomes to our distinctive priorities.

When guest artists come to town, we generally try to set up faculty as well as student sessions. For example, we recently offered faculty presentations on personal finance and designing music programs that impact underserved communities.

Faculty to Student Ratio

The formula used to compute the ratio uses data from Faculty Population by Track and Title and Student Enrollment by Time Basis, as follows:

Student Recruiting and Retention

Student Recruitment

Efforts, including specific actions, to recruit students into College/School programs.

Audition Days:

We host five audition days a year on Saturdays in December, January, and February, and these are our biggest recruiting opportunities. In addition to our faculty hearing auditions from hundreds of prospective students each year on our five audition days, we provide five full days of information sessions, including opportunities for prospective students and their parents to meet faculty in their specific area of study. In addition, prospective students and their families meet Dean Harding and have the opportunity to ask him any questions they have in an open forum. They can also take tours of our building, the Music Community residential hall, and campus; talk directly with current students in their area of study; hear some of our current students perform; learn about our programs and degrees, etc. This event provides prospective students the opportunity to satisfy their requirement to audition for us, but it also allows them to receive all the information they need to consider attending USC in only one visit. This is particularly important for our prospective students, who are short on availability, visiting many schools to audition on weekends around their own performances, lessons, rehearsals, etc. Our current students often cite their audition day experience as a major factor in their decision to attend USC.

On-campus visits:

We host individual prospective student visits completely customized to students' potential area of study. The type of prospective student visiting ranges from students who are majoring in another area but who wish to be in one of our ensembles (students who wish to be in the USC Marching Band, for example) to students who wish to major in music and immerse themselves in conservatory-type study at our school. A small percentage of these visits are set up cooperatively with the USC Visitor Center. The majority are handled by our faculty and staff working directly with prospective students to set up customized visits that may include: private lessons (most of our faculty offer prospective students one free private lesson), tours of the Music building, one-on-one appointments with faculty and music admissions staff, ensemble rehearsal visits, class visits, masterclass participation or observation, program observation (Strings Project, Children's Music Development Center), concert or recital attendance, special auditions, etc. These visits are typically time intensive to set up and facilitate, but they're one of our most valuable recruiting tools.

College fairs/conventions/exhibiting opportunities:

Our music admissions director, Jennifer Jablonski, typically attends these events for recruiting purposes:

Classical Singer Conference exhibit/college fair- location varies (May)

Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic exhibit/college fair - Chicago (December)

Brevard College Day - Brevard, NC (July)

Eastern Music Festival College Day - Greensboro, NC (July)

Governor's School for the Arts College Day - Greenville, SC (October)

Greenville Fine Arts Center College Day - Greenville, SC (October)

University of Maryland College Fair (summer - date TBA)

Eastman School of Music College Fair - Rochester, NY (October/November)

Youth Performing Arts School/Governor's School College Day - Louisville, KY (October)

SCMEA (this event is more about networking with educator alumni who refer students to us) - Columbia, SC (February)

Florida Music Educators Association conference exhibit (every all-state middle and high school music group in FL convenes there) - Tampa, FL (January)

Interlochen College Day - Interlochen, MI (summer program - usually July)

Douglas High School for the Arts College Fair - Jacksonville, FL (September/October)

Northshore Music College Fair - Evanston, IL (October)

NACAC PVA Fairs: Typically we attend fairs in New York City, Washington, DC, Philadelphia, Dallas, Houston, Atlanta

(September/October/November)

In addition, we participate in these on-campus events, as requested by Admissions:

Admitted Students Day - 2 annually

USC Open Houses - 2 annually

Top Scholar events - varies (often we set up lessons, auditions, etc. for specific scholars around their recruiting weekend schedule; this year music admissions director Jennifer Jablonski also assisted with reviewing and interviewing candidates)

Admissions special events, as requested (fly-ins and other networking events with high school counselors)

These events often require weekend work, and Jennifer typically spends about 1/3 of her weekends annually working various recruiting events.

Because South Carolina is a relatively small state, we have a relatively small pool of top musicians from which to recruit. Furman University is our number one competition for in-state applicants and tends to commit large scholarship awards to its recruits, particularly in strings and voice. We know we can't rely on South Carolina to fulfill our enrollment and ensemble needs; therefore, we have a diverse, aggressive recruiting strategy that includes a range of in-state and out-of-state events.

Special events at the USC School of Music:

One of our biggest strengths at the School of Music is our success in providing outreach/education/inspiration to musician students of all ages. Some of these events (for high school students, in particular), also serve an important recruiting purpose, drawing prospective students to campus to interact with our impressive faculty, staff, and students and to hear them perform.

Examples of events in this category (but not an exhaustive list):

USC Band Clinic

Southeastern Piano Festival

Carolina Summer Music Conservatory

All-State Audition Preparation Workshops for SC high school students (woodwinds, brass, percussion)

Parker String Quartet masterclasses

Men's Day of Choral Clinic

Various guest artist masterclasses

Visits by high school ensembles such as Douglas Anderson HS Orchestra (FL), where the ensemble and its students engaged with our faculty via masterclasses, clinics, etc. (The logistics for this visit were coordinated by Sarah Land in the Music Admissions area.)

On-campus performances:

Our School of Music presents hundreds of concerts and recitals each year featuring our faculty and students. The thousands of attendees each year include prospective students and their families. Our performances have always been an apparent and persuasive recruiting tool for the School of Music.

Alumni network:

As a USC saxophone alumna and music admissions director at USC from 2002-present, Jennifer has developed a strong

USC music alumni network, including many of our top alumni educators. These relationships are very important, as most high school musicians ask their music teachers for recommendations for music programs at colleges/universities and a list of recommended college faculty in their area of study. Each year, our music admissions area coordinates alumni receptions/networking events at the state music educator conference here in Columbia (South Carolina Music Educators Association) and at Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago in order to foster our relationship with alumni and to celebrate the growth of our School of Music. These alumni educator relationships are integral to our recruiting efforts.

Faculty and student ensemble outreach:

Faculty involvement off campus is also essential to recruitment. Our faculty serve as clinicians/directors for events such as all-state band/orchestra/choir in various states, a very important recruiting opportunity for us. They also judge at various high school contests/workshops/festivals, developing important relationships with high school directors and their students. Several faculty serve on the staffs of prestigious summer music festivals and workshops, where they are working directly with top-tier high school students. They may have a private studio that includes the one-on-one teaching of select high school students in our region. Several faculty serve (or have served) as church music directors, where they interact with a wide range of people that includes high school musicians. Faculty frequently visit high school programs in our region to work with individual high school ensembles and to work with our student teachers and their classroom mentors. In addition, our faculty are frequently invited to perform and present nationally and internationally at the most respected music conferences, where they influence top educators (a key audience that directly impacts referrals/recruiting) and prospective students. Faculty also direct and facilitate our School of Music ensembles, and these groups and the students in them also present and perform nationally and internationally. These presentations/performances enhance our reputation as a top School of Music and also allow us to interact with desirable prospective students and their families in a variety of venues regionally, nationally, and internationally.

Social media:

Social media provide an avenue for student recruitment via the posting of information of recital/concert events; alumni, faculty and student achievement stories; videos, etc. We're fairly active on Facebook but have exciting, interesting growth opportunities in YouTube (and to a lesser extent Instagram and Snapchat). For recruiting purposes, it's important these media have a young tone that speaks to our prospective students. We're exploring the possibility of having our School of Music Messengers, current School of Music students who assist with admissions and recruiting, become engaged with our social media.

Leadership in music admissions:

We're one of the lead schools to found the national music admissions roundtable group, a professional group to share and promote best practices in music admissions and recruiting. Our group holds an annual conference for music admissions officers, and we've created a listserv and closed Facebook group to share information and to learn from one another. The University of South Carolina School of Music is recognized as a long-time leader in this group. While our leadership in this group isn't a specific recruiting strategy, it demonstrates our commitment to developing the best practices in recruiting and to serving as a leader in our field.

Alumni Engagement & Fundraising

Alumni

Substantial activities, engagements, and initiatives with alumni during AY2016-2017, focusing on relationships and activities with alumni.

Alumni network:

As a USC saxophone alumna and music admissions director at USC from 2002-present, Jennifer Jablonski, Director Admissions has developed a strong USC music alumni network, including many of our top alumni educators. These relationships are very important, as most high school musicians ask their music teachers for recommendations for music programs at colleges/universities and a list of recommended college faculty in their area of study. Each year, our music admissions area coordinates alumni receptions/networking events at the state music educator conference here in Columbia (South Carolina Music Educators Association) and at Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago in order to foster our relationship with alumni and to celebrate the growth of our School of Music. These alumni educator relationships are integral to our recruiting efforts.

Exhibiting at conferences/conventions:

The University of South Carolina School of Music is an exhibitor at key music conferences in the nation, allowing us an important opportunity to strengthen our relationship with Music alumni across the nation and to recruit top students. At our exhibit booth, we offer alumni a Gamecock lapel pin to show their support of their alma mater and use the interaction as an opportunity to reconnect with our alumni, learning about their work in music and telling them about recent changes at the School of Music (new faculty hires, upcoming performances, etc.). At the South Carolina Music Educators Association conference in Columbia, the Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago, and the Florida Music Educators Association conference in Tampa, we interact with hundreds of music alumni each year at our booth, one-on-one.

Development, Fundraising and Gifts

Substantial development initiatives and outcomes during AY2016-2017, including Fundraising and Gifts.

A newly endowed scholarship for Music Education Students with the added gift of a spendable allocation so that it can be awarded immediately;

Challenge gift for matching funds to celebrate the 15th Anniversary of the Southeastern Piano Festival; $25,000 in endowment funds raised this academic year toward the Challenge Match for the String Quartet in Residence program. To date, more than $135,000 has been raised toward the $200,000 goal.

We had two significant anniversaries to celebrate in 2017: the 25th year of our volunteer support group, the Friends of the School of Music and the 15th year of the Southeastern Piano Festival. To capitalize on these, special fundraising events took place in late January and mid- February. 10 new patron level donors were added to the supporters of the SEPF and the Friends had their second highest grossing Musical Feast in the past 10 years.

We are developing a corporate sponsorship program for the School of Music, with a focus on building consistent support for the 6 major programs. We have proposals out for a major sponsor for the large production, Bernstein's MASS, scheduled for spring 2018 and by far the most ambitious multi-disciplinary program in our School's history.

We have identified our most loyal donors, (200 households), those who have given to the School 7 out of the past 10 years and we have developed strategy to further engage this group with special advance information, special events and stewardship recognition. Approximately 30% of these loyalty donors will be approached for planned or estate gifts.

Community Engagement

Description

Community engagement and community based research, scholarship, outreach, service or volunteerism conducted during AY2016-2017, including activities at the local, state, regional national and international levels.

Examples of School of Music activities in community outreach/engagement:

HIGH PROFILE CONCERTS AND EVENTS

Southeastern Piano Festival: transforms the University of South Carolina School of Music and Columbia into a major cultural destination that draws in audiences and young piano talent from across the United States.

Freeman Sundays @ 3: these Sunday concerts feature the university's renowned music faculty in fresh and vibrant chamber music programs that pair canonic masterpieces alongside brand new works.

Imani Winds Residency: Imani Winds, the nation's leading woodwind quintet and one of the world's most acclaimed chamber ensembles, will be at the USC School of Music October 25-28, 2016, and Feb. 22-23, 2017. Many of Imani's residency activities are free and open to the public. Outreach activities in the community are scheduled. Funded by a Visiting Scholar Grant.

Parker Quartet Chamber Music Residency: The USC School of Music's Quartet-in-Residence with the world-renowned Parker Quartet brings a series of public concerts, master classes, community outreach and special opportunities for chamber music enthusiasts each fall and spring.

Southern Exposure New Music Series: the award winning series is devoted to exploring the rich variety of contemporary classical and world music written in the past 30 years and masterworks of the 20th century.

The SAVVY Arts Venture Challenge: the leading experiential entrepreneurship workshop for musicians, performing artists and educators (formerly known as The SAVVY Musician in Action).

USC Band Clinic: in its 36th year of existence, the USC Band Clinic is a high school honor band clinic that brings over

400 of the most outstanding high school band students from throughout the region to the USC campus for a weekend of music-making and learning

LARGE SCALE ONGOING PROGRAMS

USC Marching Band: performs for football and basketball games to audiences in the tens of thousands

USC String Project: creating a partnership to provide teaching experience for University of South Carolina students while providing accessible string education for community children and adults.

Children's Music Development Center: comprises Music Play at the School of Music, Music Play at the Children Center at USC, and K4-Grade 6 Music Education at St. Peter's Catholic School. Graduate music education students lead weekly music classes and undergraduate music education majors perform weekly practicums at each location.

Community Music School: private instrumental and vocal music lessons and classes are offered to the greater Columbia community.

Community Music School - Piano Division & Pedagogy Laboratory: CMS Piano Division provides piano lessons and classes for local community members, both children and adults, at all levels of study (beginning through advanced pianists). The

Pedagogy Laboratory is a hands-on teaching course that augments the academic coursework in Performance Pedagogy

and skills in piano playing and music.

Suzuki Strings: offers Suzuki instruction on both violin and cello, and is open to all children ages 3 and above. The program is also used as a practicum opportunity for USC School of Music students in the Masters in Pedagogy degree in violin, and those students who are interested in teaching Suzuki violin, as they get to work with the program students under a supervising teacher.

Congaree New Horizons Band: opportunities for adults ages 50+ to learn as a new beginner or relearn how to play a band instrument. No previous music experience is necessary.

Carolina LifeSong: provides piano lessons and music experiences for students with special needs.

All-State Band Recording Project: Wind and percussion faculty at the USC School of Music record the etudes that are required for high school all-state band auditions each year. They also provide written comments in order to help students better prepare these etudes. Recordings and comments are posted on the all-state band recording website, making these materials readily available for free to students across South Carolina.

Center for Southern African-American Music: the mission of the Center for Southern African-American Music is to preserve and record oral histories, music recordings, film and video footage of African-American Music in the South to be remembered and enjoyed by all people. The university became the owner of 11 million feet of Movietone News rare footage film in 1980, and the collection holds some of the earliest footage of African-American songs.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

Music & Culture Colloquium Series: series organized by the music history area typically offering 6-8 lectures featuring guests, USC faculty and students covering a variety of topics. Events are free and open to the public.

USC Band Clinic: in its 36th year of existence, the USC Band Clinic is a high school honor band clinic that brings over 400 of the most outstanding high school band students from throughout the region to the USC campus for a weekend of music-making and learning.

Honor Choruses: elementary, middle and high school students participate in high caliber choruses

South Carolina Cello Choir: Professionals, amateurs, teachers and students from around the region take part in this musical phenomenon, learning from renowned clinicians and music faculty.

South Carolina Double Reed Day: Double reed players of all ages and abilities are invited to the biennial South Carolina Double Reed Day at USC.

South Carolina Day of Percussion: a full day of clinics, master classes, concerts and educational sessions.

South Carolina All State Double Reed Workshop: workshop for middle and high school oboe and bassoon players to prepare for the South Carolina All State auditions

USC String Quartet Workshop: an intensive one-day event geared towards talented and motivated high school string players who would like an intensive and stimulating day of string quartet playing.

All State Tune Up: USC Percussion Society teaching middle and high school students in small group and individual settings teaching the all-state solos, rudiments, scales, timpani tunings and sightreading.

All-State Preparation Workshop for Flutists, USC flute studio

Community Perceptions

How unit assesses community perceptions of engagement, as well as impact of community engagement on students, faculty, community and the institution.

Community engagement is an element in the faculty report of activities. Community perceptions are generally reported via direct comments from individuals to School of Music faculty and administrators. The USC School of Music is nationally known and locally respected for the size, scope, reach, content, and full School faculty and student participation in its community engagement activities.

Incentivizing Faculty Engagement

Policies and practices for incentivizing and recognizing community engagement in teaching and learning, research, and creative activity.

Community engagement is encouraged and is a vital element in many School of Music courses. It is especially evident in the music education curriculum. New incentives for increasing faculty involvement in community engagement include Teaching Innovation Grants, sponsored by Spark, Carolina's Music Leadership Laboratory. These grants provided up to $1500 for special projects devised by faculty.

Additionally, community engagement activities are now listed in the tenure and promotion criteria as acceptable items for recognition in research, teaching, and service depending upon the nature of the engagement, and is acceptable at local/regional and national/international levels. The School of Music is the first college at Carolina to observe and prioritize community engagement in this important way, and may still be the only one to have done so.

Campus Climate and Inclusion

Campus Climate & Inclusion

Activities unit conducted within AY2016-2017 that were designed to improve campus climate and inclusion.

Almost every activity performed locally by the School of Music contributes to an improved campus climate. By its very essence Music embraces diversity. Music itself is a non-essential for human existence, yet every culture on the planet has invented it, with surprising ingenuity, imagination and fascinating variety. We can appreciate the virtuosity of an Australian didgeridoo as much as we can appreciate a Beethoven symphony. We easily fill our Recital Hall to "standing room only" for Indian sitar, tabla and tambura as easily as we fill it for a piano festival or chamber music concert. It is not just music that we appreciate. It is the unlimited creativity of the human spirit.

The School of Music highlights outstanding key faculty that focus on specific demographic groups. Three deserve mention here.

the Schoo of Music's Assistant Dean for Equity, Diversity and Inclusion

Dr. Birgitta Johnson -

Dr. Johnson is a rising star in the growing number of interdisciplinary appointments, serving as Assistant Professor of Ethnomusicology and African American Studies. She is active in a wide range of research subjects: American and African music; music and worship in African American churches; musical change and identity in Black popular music; music in African American megachurches, sacred music in the African diaspora, and community archiving.

In addition to MUS 555 "World Music Survey" and AFAM 398H "The Cultural History of Rap," Dr. Johnson also teaches was noted locally when she was asked to participate in a community presentation and talk in April 2016 on the Tapp Center Lecture Series, "Hip-Politics: Hip-Hop's Impact on American Politics & Policy" by Anton Gunn.

"Blues Routes, Culture, American Society," "African American Sacred Music Survey," and "Music of Africa." Her expertise

Dr. Scott Price - Dr. Price is the founder of The Carolina LifeSong Initiative, which serves students with special needs and includes them in activities in which they may excel. The initiative teaches that every person has a musical voice and music speaks to and from every person. The initiative provides piano instruction and music experiences for people with autism, ADD/ADHD, developmental delays, Down syndrome, hearing and visual impairments and PPD-NOS. Students come to The Carolina LifeSong Initiative program from Dr. Price's personal connections in the community, and through parent networking. Every semester includes a public recital for the students. The LifeSong Initiative will sponsor a Sensory-Friendly Concert for the Columbia area special needs community (and anyone else who wishes to attend) on Friday, March 17, 2017 at 7:30pm in the Recital Hall. This is a sensory-friendly piano concert with program and environment designed specifically for our audience members with autism and other special needs. Autism-related coping behaviors are understood and welcomed.

The Carolina LifeSong Initiative sponsored the creation of "Piano Teaching and Special Needs," a special topics course to promote teacher training for advanced graduate students pursuing degrees in piano pedagogy.

Dr. Gregory Springer - The Congaree New Horizons Band provides people over the age of 50 the opportunity to play in a concert band at the School of Music. Members of the Congaree New Horizons Band come from all walks of life, and no prior musical experience is required to participate. They learn to play and perform a band instrument in a group setting and have a lot of fun doing it. Practice sessions includes full group rehearsals and small group and individual instruction. The band performs two to four concerts per semester at various locations in the Columbia Metropolitan area. USC's Congaree New Horizons Band is affiliated with New Horizons International Music Association, an organization that encourages seniors to learn and make music with friends. New Horizons has approximately 220 bands worldwide. Among the many member of the ensemble, Dr. Caroline M. Eastman, Professor and Director of Undergraduate Studies for the College of Engineering and Information Technology is presently participating as an aspiring artist on French horn.

There are countless other examples of contributions. For example, on Thursday January 12, 2017 the Black Law Students Association hosted a panel discussion commemorating the Life and Legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King. A high point was reached when voice graduate student Ramelle Brooks sang from the podium. The tone of the gathering, calm and reverential up to that point, was elevated to an emotional high.

Within the School of Music - Safe Zone Allies

In the School of Music itself our students tend to naturally develop friendships across a wide spectrum of backgrounds. This is due to several possible factors. For one, our students develop a strong social mentality through consistent ensemble participation.

Safe Zone Allies serve as crucial LGTB community support network across campus. In the School of Music we have four designated Safe Zone Allies offices. All four report that there has been relatively little use of their services. One has had a few students come in to discuss classroom issues and the discussion pivoted to ally topics. Another had students come by to ask specifically about the Safe Zones themselves. With two others, no one has come in for any assistance. A Safe Zone Ally in our main office made the observation that the impression in the School of Music is that overall we have a very accepting atmosphere.

Another reason that the Safe Zone Allies are not utilized more is because of a unique feature in the School of Music curriculum. Every music student is required to study weekly one-on-one with their major professor. With these close working relationships trust and support can develop. Many students will confide with their private instructors before they will go to a stranger in another office. Although this is a common occurrence such events go unreported and are difficult to verify.

Concluding Remarks

Quantitative Outcomes

Explanation of any surprises with regard to data provided in the quantitative outcomes throughout this report.

There are no surprises to the School as revealed in this data.

Cool Stuff

Describe innovations, happy accidents, good news, etc. that occurred within your unit not noted elsewhere in your reporting.

A number of summer programs embrace innovative models, such as the Carolina Opera Experience, where 5th through 10th graders compose, choreograph, design, and perform an original opera.

We have deemed one day a week as Wellness Wednesday, with a number of programs that emphasize healthy living and performance including massage, kitten petting, and yoga.

USC was the first university in the country to offer a minor in music entrepreneurship.

We start off each year with a Graduate Student Blast Off, or interactive program for incoming students to get them thinking about how to get more out of their experience at USC.

Creativity in Music Awards are offered to encourage students to take chances with interesting projects. The 2016-17 awards centered on hosting innovative performances, with one finalist involving music, dance and art, another pairing music and wine, and another exploring relationships between music and nature.

USC started the world's first library collection that contains resources on careers, innovation, wellness, and finance for musicians.

Each semester, a number of extra-curricular initiatives address a variety of success issues. This includes Spark weeks, our Discussion over Dinner series, subsidized photo shoots, and residencies by prominent musical leaders.

In 2017, we will introduce new degrees including a BM in "Performance Plus" (with tracks in entrepreneurship, chamber music, and technology) and an MM in Community Engagement.
