National Resource Center announces the inaugural members of the Editorial Review Board of E-Source for College Transitions

Columbia, SC - The National Resource Center for The First-Year Experience and Students in Transition, along with Dr. Christina Hardin, Editor, is pleased to announce the inaugural members of the Editorial Review Board of E-Source for College Transitions.

Rebecca Campbell, Northern Arizona University
Kevin Clarke, University of Wisconsin
Richard Gebauer, Cabrini College
Andrew Lee, Fort Valley State University
Kelly Smith, Northern Illinois University

The review board members serve three-year terms, advising the editor on the suitability of submitted manuscripts for publication in E-Source and providing detailed feedback to authors.

E-Source for College Transitions is an electronic newsletter published three times a year (October, March, and July) by the National Resource Center. Its primary purpose is to provide practical strategies for supporting student learning and success. Articles on a variety of topics related to student transitions are welcome, including those focusing on:

- Innovative teaching strategies
- Descriptions of institutional initiatives with demonstrated results
- Alternative funding sources for curricular initiatives, programs, and services
- Strategies for assessing student learning or experiences, programs, or courses
- Strategies for addressing the first-year, sophomore, senior, and transfer transitions at different types of institutions
- Programs addressing the needs of special student populations (e.g., adult learners, ethnic and racial minority students, first-generation students, GLBT students)

New board members will be added annually in the spring of each year. For more information about E-Source or to learn about the review board member application process, please visit sc.edu/fye/esource or email the editor at ESOURCE@mailbox.sc.edu.
