Chair Moody called the meeting to order and welcomed everyone. Secretary Heath confirmed those participating by telephone. Jeff Stensland introduced Tyler Fedor with the The Daily Gamecock on the call.

Chair Moody stated notice of the meeting and agenda had been posted and the press notified as required by the Freedom of Information Act; the agenda and supporting materials had been circulated to the committee; and a quorum was present to conduct business.
II. Coronavirus Update

Chair Moody called on President Caslen to present a coronavirus update. President Caslen stated there are currently 14,366 confirmed cases of COVID-19 in the United States which is double that reported the previous day. There are currently 81 confirmed cases in South Carolina. The University has 10 students that have contracted COVID-19. All these students live off campus of which three are in Columbia, six in other states and one is studying abroad in France. There was one confirmed case at the University among faculty and none among staff. The University asked the Arnold School of Public Health Epidemiologists to model four unique scenarios. Based on this modeling, the University made the decision to extend Spring Break by a week and move to two weeks of online learning. The University established a COVID-19 Task Force on March 3, 2020 to work with local and state officials and experts. Four guiding principles were identified to support the University’s actions during this time of uncertainty. These include ensuring the health, welfare and safety of all students, faculty and staff; limiting the spread of the virus through mitigation strategies; continuing to maintain academic excellence and integrity; and ensuring the long term stability of the University. The University has implemented a communication plan utilizing a variety of platforms to inform and educate target audiences including students, parents, faculty, staff, state and local leaders, and alumni. The financial impact of the pandemic will be significant. The ability to protect tuition through the deployment of online strategies will be key. Auxiliary services such as housing, dining, and parking are particularly vulnerable. Many decisions made by the State and the Commission on Higher Education will impact and guide decisions. President Caslen stated he and key staff were in regular communication with the Governor, Commission on Higher Education, State and local leaders. The University’s cash position is strong; however, the University must prepare for a “new normal”. The University is exploring State and Federal support.

The University recognizes this is an emotional time for students and families expecting to celebrate achievements at commencement. The University is exploring several options for May commencement.

President Caslen asked Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Ed Walton to provide an update on financial analysis. Mr. Walton stated a financial team has been working with the President to determine the financial impact of the COVID-19 as information becomes available. Once the President identified the four enduring priorities, the Finance Team began considering actions in support of each. Actions being considered include: 1) extending online instruction through the Spring Semester; 2) alternative commencement options; 3) refunds; 4) long-term planning for Admissions, Budget, and Resourcing; 5) assistance from State and Federal resources; and 6) the implementation of cost-saving measures. The unknown impact on enrollment is key to assessing the financial impact on the University. The opportunity to reconsider the timing of capital improvements may benefit the University’s cash position which is currently strong but susceptible the longer the pandemic lasts. Students due refunds will receive those. Mr. Walton stated the finance team is focused on cost-cutting initiatives and will provide estimates in the near future. Mr. Allen asked if the finance team had analyzed the impact of loss revenue on the Athletics Budget. Mr. Walton stated the finance team has taken a deep dive into modeling the impact on Athletics and would be presented at the appropriate time. He then turned the floor back over to President Caslen.
President Caslen asked the Board for additional emergency contracting authority, approval of internal cost-saving measures in the near-term, as appropriate, and assistance in engaging the legislature on higher education relief. He noted the current State Budget will not be passed at this time and a continuing resolution would be passed. This will have an impact on the University as the new budget had $12 million dollars designated for tuition mitigation.

Chair Moody inquired if the Board would receive a list of cost-cutting measures. Mr. Walton advised certain fixed cost will continue but all variable costs are being analyzed for saving opportunities. Mr. Whittle stated the Board should be actively involved and across the board cuts would be very unfair. He stated some colleges have already taken measures to reduce cost and he would like a list of those that have and have not done so. He also asked for an analysis of increases in indirect costs. Mr. Allen asked how many students remained on the University’s other campuses. President Caslen advised 91 students remain on campus at Aiken, 70 at Beaufort, and 108 at Upstate.

Chair Moody thanked President Caslen for his report and stated it was received as information.
