

Guide to Consumer Information

This guide contains a summary of consumer information that must be made available to students at the University of South Carolina as stated by the Higher Education Opportunity Act.

About the Guide

The Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA) requires colleges and universities that participate in federal student aid programs to disclose certain information to current and prospective students, and to university employees. This information is also available at https://sc.edu/about/offices_and_divisions/financial_aid/forms_and_resources/student_consumer_information/index.php.

General Information

Accreditation

Students may review copies of documents regarding entities that accredit, license, or approve the institution and its programs. The University of South Carolina is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award Associates, Baccalaureate, Masters, and Doctorate degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of the University of South Carolina. The Commission requests that it be contacted only if there is evidence that appears to support an institution's non-compliance with a requirement or standard. Accreditation information can be found at <http://www.ipr.sc.edu/sacs/> with the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment, and Analytics.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

Many offices at the University of South Carolina must collect and maintain information about students to properly carry out assigned responsibilities. All records belong to the university, according to university policy and federal regulations, but students have a number of rights concerning these records. The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act passed in 1974, outlines the governance of access to and disclosure of student records. To fulfill FERPA requirements, the university has established Policies on Student Records. These policies indicate the information disclosed in directories, an explanation about parental access to student records, and a detailed description of student rights. The policies on student records are on the web at https://sc.edu/about/offices_and_divisions/registrar/transcripts_and_records/privacy/ferpa/index.php. For more information or to receive a copy, contact the Office the University Registrar, 1244 Blossom St., Suite 106 Columbia, SC 29201 or by phone at 803-777-5555.

Because the university does not maintain all student records in one location, each office maintaining student records is required to develop a written statement of policies and procedures for handling student records. They are available in their respective offices. The university also has copies of university policies on student records on its website at <http://www.sc.edu/policies/policiesbysubject.php#R>.

Constitution Day and Voter Registration
