

We are proud to announce our newest graduates! The PAL and ELP programs provide employees fundamental skills to lead our university.

PAL 2021-2022 Graduates

- Ali Brian, College of Education
- Nate Carnes, College of Education
- Steven Fiester, Greenville School of Medicine
- Lucy Santos Green, College of Information and Communications
- Sean Handley, Darla Moore School of Business
- Heather Heckman, University Libraries
- Birgitta Johnson, School of Music
- Kirk Randazzo, College of Arts and Sciences
- Melissa Reitmeier, College of Social Work
- Julie Sease, College of Pharmacy
- Stephen Shapiro, College of Hospitality, Retail and Sports Management
- Mark Uline, College of Engineering
- Alicia Wilson, College of Arts and Sciences
- Karen Worthy, College of Nursing
- Suzanne Adlof, Arnold School of Public Health
- Steve Eigenbrot, Department of Athletics
- Will Elliot, Division of Development
- Jared Evans, Department of External Affairs
- Alexandria Flippins, Division of Human Resources
- Donald Frank, Division of Information Technology
- Silvia Patricia Rios Husain, Student Affairs and Academic Support

ELP 2021-2022 Graduates

- Sam Beals, College of Arts and Sciences
- Peggy Binette, Communications and Public Affairs
- Megan Colascione, Student Affairs and Academic Support
- MacKenzie Collier, Academic Affairs and Provost
- Dan Cook, Communications and Public Affairs
- Jason Darby, Palmetto College
- Lauren Epps, Academic Affairs and Provost
- Jessica Escorcio, College of Arts and Sciences
- Pamela Hite, College of Pharmacy
- Roderick Howell, Student Affairs and Academic Support
- Brian Hull, College of Engineering and Computing
- Austin LaForest, Student Affairs and Academic Support
- Sandra Lee, Administration and Finance
- Caroline Maulana, Division of Information Technology
- Jessica McCormick, College of Nursing
- Amelia Quint, Rhodos Fellows
- April Scott, Administration and Finance
- LaTrice Ratcliff-Small, Academic Affairs and Provost
- Jan Smoak, South Carolina Honors College
- Amanda Therrell, Academic Affairs and Provost
- Michael Wade, Student Affairs and Academic Support