History 103
INTRODUCTION TO SOUTH ASIAN HISTORY

BULLETIN INFORMATION
HIST 103 – Introduction to South Asian History (3 credit hours)

Course Description:
Political, cultural, and economic forces that have conditioned the development of institutions and ideas in South Asia.

SAMPLE COURSE OVERVIEW
Today home to approximately 1.7 billion people, South Asia is one of the most socially, geographically, culturally, and religiously diverse places on the planet. This course introduces students to the history of modern South Asia, beginning in the Mughal era and ending with consideration of the modern nation-states that make up the region, particularly India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh. This course incorporates a substantial amount of primary sources. Those sources will be used to raise and discuss questions about particular historical actors and developments.

ITEMIZED LEARNING OUTCOMES
Upon successful completion of History 103, students will be able to:
1. Demonstrate principles of historical thinking to understand human societies, specifically through an introduction to South Asian civilization.
2. Define and summarize major events, developments, and themes of South Asian history.
3. Evaluate significant themes, issues, or eras in South Asian history.
4. Demonstrate basic skills in the comprehension and analysis of selected sources and their relevance in the context of historical knowledge.
5. Develop interpretive historical arguments drawing on primary and/or secondary sources.
6. Recognize the differences between original historical source material (primary sources) and later scholarly interpretations of those sources (secondary sources).

SAMPLE REQUIRED TEXTS/SUGGESTED READINGS/MATERIALS
Other required readings are available on Blackboard.
SAMPLE ASSIGNMENTS AND/OR EXAMS This course will assess student achievement through the evaluation of class participation (including attendance, performance in directed class discussion, and/or brief writing assignments), quizzes, exams, and research papers based on historical sources. The exams will include short answer section[s] and/or essay section[s] and will cover key terms, concepts, and interpretive themes and require students to analyze historical context and apply historical methods to interpret the past. Class discussions will encourage students to use diverse methods and skills to explore primary and secondary historical sources and apply historical methods and frameworks to interpret the past.

Midterm Exam, Final Exam

Paper Assignment: You are responsible for writing a 1500-word paper. In this paper you will be asked to draw on material in this course—both lectures and assigned readings—in order to respond to one of four prompts. For your paper, you will need to formulate a thesis and defend it in a cogent, analytical manner, drawing on various sources to back up your arguments. You are required to select your prompt by CLASS 19. The four possible prompts are:

- How, and why, did the British in India transform from being merchants to rulers of a territorial empire?
- In his “Minute on Education” in 1835, Thomas Babington Macaulay supported western education for select group of Indian elites so that this group could “form a class who may be interpreters between us and the millions whom we govern,--a class of persons Indian in blood and colour, but English in tastes, in opinions, in moral and in intellect.” Was Macaulay’s prediction borne out? How?
- How did M.K. Gandhi transform the Indian nationalist movement?
- Was Partition in 1947 unavoidable? Identify the key moments in the run-up to Partition that support your argument.

SAMPLE ATTENDANCE POLICY
See the University of South Carolina attendance policy: http://bulletin.sc.edu/content.php?catoid=36&navoid=3738

Students are obligated to complete all assigned work promptly, to attend class regularly, and to participate in whatever class discussion may occur. Absence from more than 10 percent of the scheduled class sessions, whether excused or unexcused, is excessive and the instructor may choose to exact a grade penalty for such absences. It is of particular importance that a student who anticipates absences in excess of 10 percent of the scheduled class sessions receives prior approval from the instructor before the last day to change schedule as published in the academic and refund calendars on the registrar’s Web site (http://registrar.sc.edu/).

ACCOMMODATIONS POLICY
Any student with a documented disability should contact the Office of Student Disability Services at 803-777-6142 to make arrangements for appropriate accommodations.
