

2023 Exceptional Research Service Awards Nomination Guide

Overview

Nominations for the Exceptional Research Service Awards are submitted through the Office of the Vice President for Research submission system at vprinitatives.research.sc.edu. Faculty members may submit one nomination per award, but may not nominate the same staff member for more than one award. In other words, faculty members may nominate a separate staff member for each of the three awards. If reviewers find that a nominee for one award would be a stronger candidate for another award, the nominee may be considered for the award that fits their qualifications best.

Exceptional Research Service Awards

- College/Department Research Administration Support Staff Award
- Central Service Unit Research Administration Support Staff Award
- Technical Support Staff Award

Visit the program page for complete qualifications and details on these awards.

Complete nominations for the 2023 Exceptional Research Service Awards are due on Monday, February 6, 2023 by 5:00 pm.

Nomination Preparation

To submit a nomination, the nominator should prepare a one-page letter telling the “story” of the exceptional research support they have received from the nominee and explaining why they are deserving of special recognition. The letter of nomination serves as the primary material reviewers will evaluate when deliberating, so it is the most important component of the nomination.

Once the letter is prepared, the nominator may log into the nomination system, select the appropriate award contest (from the three award types detailed on the program page), enter/select the nominee, upload the nomination letter, and submit the completed nomination for consideration following the steps beginning on page 2 of this guide.
