This project aims to design and study a novel MECC membrane for Co2 capture and conversion process. Three related papers have been published so far. Currently we are working on the modeling part of the work. By systematically modelling of MECC reactor, we aim to understand more mechanism behind this work. The student leading the project has a 4.0/4.0 GPA and demonstrate a strong capacity in research as well.

| Steve and Chris McNeill Mechanical Engineering Scholarship | Yes | March 1 | www.cec.sc.edu/scholarships | | |

The scholarship will be awarded to a transfer undergraduate student majoring in Mechanical Engineering. The following factors are to be considered in making the award:
1. Undergraduate transfer student who has not completed a bachelor’s degree;
2. Undergraduate transfer student who shows true potential to be able to complete a Mechanical Engineering degree;
3. Undergraduate transfer student who has completed at least five technical courses (math, physics, chemistry, and/or engineering) after high school and prior to admission;
4. Undergraduate transfer student who is not eligible for any state scholarship, such as the LIFE or Palmetto Scholarship;
5. Undergraduate transfer student who has completed 30 hours of courses that apply to the degree, of which 15 hours must be technical courses as defined above; and
6. Standardized test scores, class ranking, high school diploma (GED is acceptable), high school grade point average, and any high school course work beyond 30 hours will not be considered in the selection process.

IGERT fellowships are available for motivated students from engineering, chemistry, physics, materials science, and related fields. Students with a B.S. and/or M.S. degree in these fields are encouraged to apply. The IGERT PhD Fellowship support includes full tuition and fees, and a stipend of $30,000 for the full academic year. The Fellowship is a two-year Fellowship and only open to U.S. citizens or permanent residents, who are applying to the doctoral degree in one of IGERT participating departments. This Integrative Graduate Education and Research Traineeship (IGERT) award provides PhD students at the University of South Carolina at Columbia with the unique training and skill sets to advance the science and engineering of nonmaterials for sustainable energy generation. Trainees are collaborating in interdisciplinary research teams to receive a technical education in alternative energy production and to gain experience in technology commercialization, entrepreneurship and science communication.
