Messina Learning Outcomes

Messina is designed to instill the intellectual curiosity and self-knowledge necessary for a first-year student’s successful start to his or her Loyola education, whose commitment to personal and social responsibility reflects the Jesuit, Catholic academic and faith traditions. As a result of participation in Messina, first-year students will show progress to a deeper and fuller understanding of the interconnections unique and essential to a Jesuit Education in a contemporary world. Successful attainment of the following outcomes is not only the aim of the First-Year Seminars but it is the shared responsibility of all – faculty, administrators, peer leaders, and students.

Jesuit Mission and Values

- Develop habits of discernment and reflection in the Ignatian tradition.
- Explore and articulate values and principles involved in their personal decision-making.

Critical Understanding

- Develop habits of reading, writing and intellectual conversation that support academic excellence and engagement.
- Demonstrate increased knowledge and use of campus resources that aid critical thinking.

Connections to Loyola Community

- Establish healthy, mutually beneficial and respectful relationships with others including faculty, administrators, staff and peers.
- Demonstrate a sense of belonging to the community at Loyola University both in and out of the classroom.

Integrated Learning

- Integrate multiple sources of knowledge gained through various disciplinary lenses, texts, instruction, out of class experiences and personal reflection to offer a perspective on the interdisciplinary theme of the community.
How will you apply Palmer’s (2011) habits of the heart to advance collaboration in your cross-divisional partnerships?

1. Spring Semester Workshops
New faculty members and administrators are asked to attend monthly workshops that help prepare them for the Messina experience. The January workshop is held before classes begin. The February, March and April workshops focus on the Messina learning outcomes and how to infuse them into enrichment sessions through discussions and outings that enhance the course, the theme and students’ transition to college in and out of the classroom. Each workshop is held twice – on Thursday mornings from 9:25am-10:40am and Friday afternoons from 2:00-3:15pm. Participants may attend whichever workshop fits better in their schedule. Returning administrators and faculty members are also welcomed to sit on sessions of interest. In many cases, returning participants present at the workshops. All faculty and mentors – new and returning - attend the May, August and January (following year) workshops, which include preparation for the Common Text program.
