USC Covered Walkway

General Description – The University of South Carolina Salkehatchie campus in Walterboro has an aging covered walkway that is to be removed in its entirety (sidewalks below the covered overhead will remain in place). The covered walkway connects to three buildings and spans approximately 450 linear feet (with varying widths) and a total square footage of approximately 4,600 feet. The covered walkway is a combination steel and wood structure, supported by 3” vertical steel poles anchored into the pedestrian sidewalk. The roof material appears to be roll roofing over a combination wood, steel truss and I-beam system. The roof truss and I-beam system at certain locations is attached through the brick veneer of the buildings to structural supports. See pictures below.
