

GO BIG RED

!! THE ENERGY MY
CLASSMATES GIVE OFF
KEEPS ME PUMPED
UP THROUGHOUT THE DAY !!

-SENIOR MCKENNA MATZEK

IN THE NOW

"Our band's music is loud so that gets me hype. The dance team and cheerleaders perform so well that it just overwhelms me with school spirit and pride that I go to Sparkman!"
-junior Anna Cunningham

"I like to be crazy and energetic so I guess I use my craziness at the pep rallies to bring us some school pride."
-junior Olivia Jones

"When I perform, it gets me super pumped and excited throughout the rest of the day."
-sophomore Heather Curtis

"Pep rallies are where I belong. They just pep people up and it's just so exciting I can't even."
-junior Carly Busby

Teacher Takeover Showing her moves, medical academy teacher Mrs. Angela Holland performs during the teacher-student dance battle. Holland and her teammate, Mrs. Kim Goins, won the battle. "I loved beating the male teachers, I honestly loved winning," Holland said. Photo by Cassie Chapman

A Big Deal Jumping to the music, seniors Bailey Mayes and Chloe Black make some noise in the senior section. The seniors won the spirit trophy which was a big pom pom on a megaphone. A competition developed during the week with the juniors over hall decorating. Photo by Eden Fletcher

Hey Baby Playing "Hey Baby," junior Carley Riley helps the band make some noise at the pep rally. The band ended the pep rally with the "Alma Mater" which was a request by new principal, Mr. Chris Shaw. Photo by Cassie Chapman

Go Sparkman Go Yelling out a cheer, sophomore Nikki Ahlf performs with the rest of her team during the pep rally. Cheer coach, Mrs. Lisa Aderholt, led the cheers along with the cheerleaders so the student body could hear. Photo by Eden Fletcher

Grand Entrance Striding out onto the gym floor, junior Josh Little and senior Mason Edwards get the crowd excited for the first game. They were captains for the night and addressed the crowd. The team lost to Bob Jones, 47-28. Photo by Cassie Chapman

Crushin' It Chugging Orange Crush, junior Ariyanna Benjamin tries to keep the soda down in the soda-chugging competition at the pep rally. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors competed, and the sophomores ended up with victory. Photo by Cassie Chapman

TO FIND OUT
WHERE THIS
WENT...PG. 112