

Students celebrate despite tough loss

Senior guard member Erin Elliot waves her flag at the Homecoming pregame show on Friday Sept. 23. "In band we have to be very uniform, but we were able to perform with symbols on our faces showing our school pride," Elliot said, "That made my last homecoming pretty special." Blue Brigade officers Laney Hawn, Brittne Miller, and Ariella Skloss Dos Santos lead the Blue Brigade in a kick routine to "Shut up and Dance" by Walk the Moon. "The homecoming game is one of the more exciting games to perform at," Skloss Dos Santos said. "Everyone comes out to support the Knights." Photo by Madison Olsen.

Jack Switzer tackles LBJ player Brian Batts to force a fumble that resulted in a turnover for the Knights. The Knight defense played strong throughout the game, holding the Jaguars scoreless the entire second half. Photo by Dave Winter.

Sarah Childs, Aly Candelas, Aubrey Rowan, and Xiaoman Lancaster dance in the stands of House Park. "The best part is getting to show off to my friends and family that are there," Rowan said. Photo by Madison Olsen.

Smiling at the crowd as they accept the homecoming courtship, Brittne Miller (17) and Griffin Garbutt are crowned at the LBJ game last Friday. "I was surprised and excited at the same time," Miller said. "I was flattered that my schoolmates voted for me." Photo by Madison Olsen.
