

"Sunset," photo by Raegan Craddock

...second chances don't exist in real life.

the light of the earth will one day flicker and go out when the day comes that her ember is drained don't you dare apologize when the sun has been burning herself out for you for the past 5 billion years how could you ask for more time?

Raegan Craddock