

QUELLING FEARS: Dr. Diane Dunston, pediatrician and former director of the Athens Neighborhood Health Center, speaks to a student outside of the Cedar Shoals cafeteria on Oct. 13. “Every contact that we have with a person is an opportunity for us to educate them about the importance of knowledge, the importance of this vaccine, the importance of what’s really going on,” Dr. Cshanyse Allen, owner of the Innovative Healthcare Institute, said. Photo by Jackie Wright.

