The summer months are usually our office’s time to complete those tedious "housekeeping tasks" that we typically can’t do during the very busy academic year. For our July project, we are focusing our efforts on collecting more detailed information about you and your interests so we can better support our student population. We have spent this past month mapping out a robust and purposeful 2022-2023 events calendar and cannot wait to share these engagement opportunities with you in the coming months. But, in order for us to effectively communicate our plans and improve student support, we need to make sure we have your contact information, training/job history, and engagement preferences updated in our database.

Over the last year, more students than ever before have reached out to our office with requests to connect with our alumni across the country for research opportunities, away rotations, and general advice. But, it’s incredibly difficult to provide the support they need based on specific criteria when we have inaccurate or incomplete data to provide them. As we continue to learn about our alumni family and what all you do, it's clear that one static contact information form is not a "one size fit all" solution.

This fall, the contact form that’s currently on our website’s Connect page will be updated with six program-specific forms so we can make sure we are collecting the right information that'll give us a true snapshot of who you are and what you're doing in your field. Until these get built and launched online, please consider updating your contact info by using one of the customized Google Forms in the links below.
