
MAGNIFY | Meet Your Alumni Relations Staff

It's been one year since Holly Jefferson joined the Office of Development and Alumni Relations as the Associate Director. Since then, the Alumni Relations staff has grown by two, and she and her team have made significant changes to alumni programming and events. They continue to work diligently to bridge the communication gap between the Alumni Office and their graduates by adopting more effective ways to keep in touch. Check out the videos above to learn more about the Alumni Relations staff, and what they're looking forward to for the future.
FOCUS | Alumni in the USC Community

The Office of Development and Alumni Relations jointly hosted a luncheon with the South Carolina Medical Association (SCMA) for the new MI class in early August to provide insight and opportunities for student involvement. Speakers included March Seabrook, MD ('86), President of SCMA; Holly Jefferson, Associate Director of Alumni Relations; Jeff Harvey, President of the American Medical Association SOM Chapter; and Phyllis Valainis, President of the SCMA Alliance.

James McCallum, MD ('01), Kelly Hynes, MD ('96), and Donna Ray, MD ('94) participate in a mock interview over dinner at The Capstone House in late September. USC SOM alumni were invited to help our current MIV medical students prepare for their upcoming residency interviews. This event was co-sponsored by the Office of Development and Alumni Relations and Student and Career Services, and also
The USC SOM Genetic Counseling faculty and staff attended a garden party in late September aimed to build awareness of the graduate program at the home of President and First Lady Pastides in the historic USC Horsehoe.
