To Our School of Medicine Greenville Family and Friends,

Our students have been, and continue to be, the top priority for the University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville, where tomorrow's doctors train alongside today's physicians and interdisciplinary healthcare team. Our mission is to develop inquisitive physicians who take responsibility for the healthcare needs of the diverse communities they serve, while directly engaging the community of Greenville through innovative programs. With that in mind, we are writing to share the creation of an exciting new fund to help students on their journey to becoming physicians and to invite you to join in our mission.

The Student Catalyst Fund will sponsor student experiences including research projects and national organization leadership opportunities. We further aim to develop internship opportunities in innovation and health policy. It is our goal that every student who wishes to participate in research or national leadership will not be hindered due to lack of funds, whether their interest is within the traditional research pipeline arena, "from bench to bedside," the growing disciplines of lifestyle medicine, high-value care or health-delivery science, or the many other avenues where physician leaders can make a difference. Through unique partnerships with Prisma Health, UofSC scientists and clinicians, and other academic partners, we can provide students with avenues in research and learning not found anywhere else in the country. Our primary goals remain to ignite inquiry, develop change leaders, and contribute to discoveries for a healthier South Carolina and the nation.

We invite you to partner with us to help build the lasting legacy of future physicians of the University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville. In 2019, our medical students hosted the inaugural Gown and Glove Gala, which raised over $9,700 for the Greenville Free Medical Clinic and medical student scholarships. The next iteration of the Gown and Glove Gala will be held October 16, 2020 and will benefit the Student Catalyst Fund. With your help, we can ensure that students have the resources they need to expand their knowledge and education beyond the classroom and hospital.

In becoming our partner, our promise to you is this: University of South Carolina School of Medicine Greenville will continue to develop the best physicians to move South Carolina and the nation toward a healthier future. We will succeed in this through innovative education, aspirational research, and dedication to better health for all.

Sincerely,

Dean Marjorie R. Jenkins, MD, MEdHP, FACP
