

College Tuition and Transfer Choices with Dr. Lois Miller

- Host
 - Dr. Kasie Whitener, Clinical Assistant Professor, Management Department
- Guest
 - Dr. Lois Miller, Assistant Professor, Economics Department

Let's talk about college tuition. How it's gone up, how students and their parents pay for it, and what state legislatures are doing to try to reign it in.

Lois Miller is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Economics in the Darla Moore School of Business. She received her PhD in Economics from the University of Wisconsin - Madison in 2024. She is an applied microeconomist with interests in labor economics, public economics, and the economics of education. She mostly researches topics in higher education, with a focus on how access to, and resources within, postsecondary education can affect inequality and social mobility.

Topics in this episode include:

- Reasons students transfer from two-year to four-year colleges
- Policies that help students make better higher ed choices
- Policies that seek to reign in college tuition pricing
- How colleges respond to those policies
- The difference between sticker price and net price in college tuition

To learn more about the Moore School, click here.

This has been Moore Impact. When you learn more, you know more, and when you know more, you do more. Thanks for listening.