STUDENT DATA COLLECTION
All data in this report is collected via a standardized National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) online survey, a link to which is emailed to every graduate. Being student entered, all data is self-reported. Responses from the 2020–2021 survey were gathered from 1,259 graduates in the following classes: August 2020, December 2020 and May 2021. The survey had a response rate of 50.83% (540 respondents).

When comparing NACE self-reported salary data with salary data from the U.S. Department of Education College Scorecard, similar trends emerge regarding which fields of study and/or majors lead to higher salaries for both individual and double major concentrations. Notably, the average salary of graduates with federal debt in the College Scorecard data is approximately 5% lower than the average salary obtained from self-reported Moore School data. Learn more about the College Scorecard at collegescorecard.ed.gov. To see how the Moore School compares to other business schools, visit bit.ly/dmsb_scorecard.

THE ACCOUNTING MAJOR
AT THE DARLA MOORE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Accounting is a good fit for students who:
• Want to understand business as a whole
• Are good at using information, especially numbers, to solve problems
• Seek a profession that is always in high demand

Potential career pathways include:
• Certified Public Accountant
• Forensic accountant
• Auditor
• Corporate accountant
• Tax accountant
• Government and nonprofit accountant

An accounting degree leads to leadership careers in public or private accounting, budget planning, tax accounting, auditing and consulting. Accountants are found in every industry sector and at management and executive levels in almost every company. Many accounting majors go on to graduate school or become certified public accountants.

The Moore School has long been viewed as a primary talent pipeline by major accounting firms including Deloitte, Dixon Hughes Goodman, Elliott Davis, Ernst & Young, Grant Thornton, KPMG, PricewaterhouseCoopers and many more. Recent graduates have secured jobs at companies such as Eaton and banks such as Deutsche Bank and TD Bank.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the 2021 average starting salary for Moore School accounting graduates is $57,759.

The School of Accounting is distinguished from other large accounting programs nationwide by maintaining:
• Regular student-to-instructor interaction for majors in all upper-division accounting courses
• Rigor throughout the curriculum, with an emphasis on both technical and skill-based learning objectives
• Up-to-date and in-depth curriculum; close ties with leading accounting firms, whose managers regularly provide input that keeps our curriculum current with the evolving needs of the profession
• Faculty who are highly engaged with students both in the classroom and beyond

Major Requirements:
Students pursuing an accounting degree must complete 24 hours, including:
• ACCT 401: Financial Accounting I
• ACCT 402: Cost/Managerial Accounting
• ACCT 403: Tax I
• ACCT 404: Accounting Information Systems I
• ACCT 405: Financial Accounting II
• ACCT 406: Auditing I
• Two additional 500-level accounting courses selected from an approved list of electives

Note that these are the 2021–2022 major requirements and are subject to change as the school regularly updates its curriculum in response to the evolving needs of the business community.

Accounting Business Analytics Concentration
Students may add the accounting business analytics concentration to their degree. This concentration requires four analytics courses with a maximum of one course double counting within your major.

Accounting Beyond the Classroom
Extracurricular areas to enhance your accounting degree include:
• Community Service: Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program, Beta Alpha Psi, National Association of Black Accountants, Institute of Management Accountants (IMA)
• Diversity and Social Advocacy: Beta Alpha Psi, National Association of Black Accountants, IMA, Diversity and Inclusion Council, Women in Business Council
• Global Learning: Some accounting courses (ACCT 506, IBUS 490) include international components in the curriculum
• Peer Leadership: Beta Alpha Psi, National Association of Black Accountants, IMA, Moore School Student Ambassadors
• Professional Practice: Beta Alpha Psi, IMA, Global Business Council, Alpha Kappa Psi
• Research: Some accounting courses (ACCT 404) include research components in the curriculum
Work in many of these extracurricular areas can contribute to one or more of the paths to Graduation with Leadership Distinction. Find out more at sc.edu/about/initiatives/usc_connect.

Accounting Spotlight: Internship Programs
Accounting majors are encouraged to gain hands-on experience in the field by obtaining paid internships in the summers after their junior and senior years. Students have the opportunity to offer students a valuable opportunity to preview the accounting profession and learn more about a firm where they would like to work.

Students may also obtain a winter internship, which allows them to experience audit and tax season firsthand. The winter internship program, which occurs in the spring semester of the final year, is competitive and facilitated by the Moore School’s Office of Career Management. Students work for a firm for the first half of the spring semester and then return to campus to complete their course work. Students interested in internships should contact David McIntyre at david.mcintyre@moore.sc.edu.

Accelerated Bachelor’s/MACC Program
A flexible curriculum, a close-knit family of students and a faculty that prepares graduates for long-term success make the Moore School’s Master of Accountancy program much more than just a master’s degree. With the accelerated program, you can complete up to 12 hours that are counted toward both undergraduate and graduate degree requirements, allowing you to complete both degrees in a shorter amount of time than the traditional path. As a MACC graduate, you will meet the education requirements for the CPA license and are expected to complete the CPA Exam during the program. Contact macc@moore.sc.edu for more information on the accelerated program, including eligibility requirements.

THE ECONOMICS MAJOR

Economics is a good fit for students who:
• Enjoy thinking about business from a theoretical, big-picture perspective
• Want to develop general analytics skills that can be useful in many future business and government careers
• Are interested in attending graduate or professional school

Potential career pathways include:
• Banking, manufacturing, insurance, retailing and economic research
• Local, state and federal government positions in regional planning and development, employment and labor force analysis, ecology, transportation, and the regulation of industry
• Teaching economics in secondary schools or in colleges and universities

Economics is a career field that offers a wide variety of opportunities. Professional economists can find work in all industry sectors and are involved in economic forecasting, market research, cost-effectiveness studies, investment analysis, policy analysis, impact studies, program evaluations and solving budget problems.

Many Moore School economics students go directly to graduate or professional school. Recent graduates have attended schools such as Harvard Graduate School of Education, Villanova University School of Law and Georgetown University School of Public Policy.

Companies that have hired Moore School economics majors in recent years include Vanguard, Nestle, Amazon, Honeywell and Deutsche Bank.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the 2021 average starting salary for Moore School economics graduates is $55,447.

A degree in finance prepares students for careers in three interrelated areas: commercial and investment banking, corporate finance, and asset management. Companies that have hired Moore School finance majors in recent years include Bank of America, Citigroup, Fidelity Investments, First Citizens Bank, Merrill Lynch, PricewaterhouseCoopers and Wells Fargo.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the 2021 average starting salary for Moore School finance graduates is $60,612.
Employment Rate (Single Major): 91%

Major Requirements:
Students pursuing a finance degree must complete 15 hours, including:

- FINA 365: Corporate Financial Analysis
- FINA 469: Investment Analysis and Portfolio Management
- FINA 470: Financial Statement Analysis
- Two additional finance electives selected from an approved list. Electives are available from the areas of corporate finance, risk management, investment, real estate and banking.

Students also select a minor or an area of directed study for an additional 18 hours.

Note that these are the 2021–2022 major requirements and are subject to change as the school regularly updates its curriculum in response to the evolving needs of the business community.

Finance Business Analytics Concentration
Students may add the finance business analytics concentration to their degree. This concentration requires four analytics courses with a maximum of one course double counting within your major.

The Department of Finance at the Moore School is known for its outstanding faculty whose interests range from bank management, corporate restructuring, investment management and fixed income strategies, to risk management and real estate finance.

Finance Beyond the Classroom
Extracurricular areas to enhance your finance degree include:

- Community Service: Moneythink, Carolina Finance and Investment Association (CFIA), Gamma Iota Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi, Net Impact
- Diversity and Social Advocacy: Moneythink, Diversity and Inclusion Council, Women in Business Council

Finance Scholars Program
The Moore School is committed to building a solid road map to high-end finance for its best undergraduate finance students. The Carolina Finance Scholars program’s mission is to:

- Improve the quality, placement and trajectory of top finance undergraduate students
- Enhance their practical, analytical and technical skill sets
- Provide them direct exposure to well-placed industry professionals, particularly alumni

Through advanced and specialized course work, data source instruction, live case studies with industry partners, career management training, internships and alumni networking, the Finance Scholars program will prepare its undergraduate participants for a career in high-end finance. Application is competitive and takes place before the spring semester of sophomore year. Students must have taken FINA 363 to apply.

Finance Spotlight: Carolina Finance and Investment Association
The Carolina Finance and Investment Association (CFIA) is a student-driven organization that works in conjunction with faculty and alumni to provide the resources necessary for students to achieve their goals of working in top financial positions. CFIA features regular guest speakers, trips, educational seminars, resume workshops, interview training, trading competitions, community outreach, social events and a mock fund. It's a great way for students interested in finance to accelerate and deepen their understanding of the financial world.
THE INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS MAJOR

International Business is a good fit for students who:
• Want to develop their transnational mindset and the skills needed for career progression to the highest management levels
• Want to gain a cross-cultural understanding how global competitive dynamics influence companies throughout the world
• Are willing to confront situations and problems often characterized by complexity, ambiguity and uncertainty
• Have an interest in living and working abroad
• Are interested in or already have exposure to other languages and cultures

All international business majors are required to choose a second major that is functional in nature. Since it is uncommon for a student to work abroad immediately following graduation, the first full-time position most international business majors obtain is through the skill sets gained within their second major area of study. The choice of this second major is as important as the completion of the IB major. Many IB majors will choose a second major that is quantitative based (i.e., accounting, finance or operations and supply chain), and this choice accounts for higher average starting salaries compared to students who choose a non-quantitative major. (i.e., marketing or management).

Potential career pathways include:
• Public and private sectors—industry dependent on the student’s second major choice

An international business degree leads to work in a wide variety of organizations including consulting firms, companies providing international services and multinational companies across a full range of functional areas such as accounting, finance, marketing and logistics.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the 2021 average starting salary for Moore School international business graduates is $60,562.

Employment Rate: 98%

Major Requirements:
Students pursuing an international business degree must complete 15 hours as well as a second major in business, requiring a total of 27–36 hours, including:
• IBUS 310: Globalization and Business
• Functional courses selected from courses such as:
• Thematic courses selected from courses such as:
  » Competitive Strategies in Developing Countries, Cross-Cultural Behavior and Negotiations, Global Stakeholder Management, Global Competitive Analysis or Competitive Innovation Systems
  » Regional courses selected from courses such as: Business in Latin America, Africa, Europe or Asia
  » Additional IB elective course from a functional or thematic area

Note that these are the 2021–2022 major requirements and are subject to change as the school regularly updates its curriculum in response to the evolving needs of the business community.

The international business major explores the strategy and organization of business that occurs between individuals, firms or organizations across countries.

 Ranked No. 1 in the nation for more than two decades, the international business program at the Moore School is unparalleled in providing students opportunities to develop global competencies through rigorous international business training complemented by foreign language acquisition, study abroad at one of more than 60 elite partner schools and exposure to leading-edge faculty.

Admission to the international business major is highly selective. Students who are admitted to the South Carolina Honors College may earn immediate admission to the classic IB track. The remaining openings are filled through a highly competitive selection process.
International Business Beyond the Classroom

Extracurricular areas to enhance your international business degree include:

- Community Service: International Business Student Advisory Council, Social Entrepreneurship Corps, Buddies Beyond Borders
- Diversity and Social Advocacy: Diversity and Inclusion Council, Women in Business Council
- Global Learning: All IB students are required to study abroad
- Peer Leadership: International Business Student Advisory Council, Moore School Student Ambassadors, Beta Gamma Sigma business honor fraternity
- Professional Practice: Beta Alpha Psi, Global Business Council, Alpha Kappa Psi, Gamecock Consulting Club
- Research: Some IB courses (IBUS 301, IBUS 310, IBUS 402, IBUS 425, IBUS 426) include research components in the curriculum

Work in many of these extracurricular areas can contribute to one or more of the paths to Graduation with Leadership Distinction. Find out more at sc.edu/about/initiatives/usc_connect.

Cohort Programs Available in 2021:

- International Business of the Americas in partnership with Universidad de Chile
- International Business Education Alliance in partnership with University of Mannheim (Germany), ESSEC Business School (Singapore Campus), Fundação Getulio Vargas-EBAPE (Brazil) — functional focus on consulting
- Responsible International Leadership in partnership with ESSEC Business School (Cergy, France) — functional focus on marketing and ethical, sustainable business practices.

International Business Spotlight: Cohort Programs

Students in the cohort programs immerse themselves in an international experience throughout their college careers while enjoying the benefits of studying in the nation's top international business department.

THE MANAGEMENT MAJOR

AT THE DARLA MOORE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Management is a good fit for students who:

- Want to develop strong leadership qualities
- Are interested in human resources and talent management
- Want to work effectively in entrepreneurial settings
- Have a passion for fostering innovation
- Want a broad-based business education

All management majors are required to choose one of two concentrations: human resources and organizational leadership or entrepreneurship. Since students who major in management face more limited employment opportunities, having a focused concentration provides a depth of skills in a specific area expands employment options.

In addition, management majors that choose the entrepreneurship concentration are required to complete a second major. Like international business majors, their jobs are more likely to come from this second major, in finance, supply chain or marketing, for example. Completing a second more quantitative major will best prepare a student to obtain a higher paying job upon graduation.

Potential career pathways include:

- Managers/team leaders
- Project leaders
- HR analysts
- Consultants

A degree in management gives you a strong understanding of how organizations function and prepares you to become... an impactful leader across a wide range of industries and functional areas.

The management major focuses on how organizations can more effectively attract, develop and retain talent to drive business performance, innovation, inclusion and entrepreneurial activity. Students explore topics such as human resources, entrepreneurship and innovation, talent analytics, leadership, teamwork, managing change, diversity and inclusion and strategic management.

Companies that have recently hired Moore School management majors include IBM, Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Bank of America, Vanguard, International Paper, TIAA-CREF, Ford Motor Credit, Aflac, Techtronic Industries and Marriott Vacations Worldwide.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the average 2021 starting salary for Moore School management graduates is $51,903.

THE MARKETING MAJOR

Marketing is a good fit for students who:
• Enjoy strategic thinking and problem solving
• Are skilled at insights and data-driven decision making
• Have strong interpersonal and communication skills

Potential career pathways include:
• Market research
• Business analytics
• Brand and product management
• Marketing communications
• Digital and social media marketing
• Sales management and personal selling
• Retail management
• Entrepreneurship
• Consulting

Marketing has become one of the most diverse and challenging roles inside any enterprise. Marketers are often the key stakeholders in driving performance, both in sales and profits. The marketing major explores the development, pricing, distribution and promotion of products, services and ideas. Companies are often looking for marketing specialists, and the Moore School is refining its courses to meet the needs of the marketplace in three key areas: market research and business analytics, marketing strategy and go-to-market strategy and sales leadership and business development. Course work in marketing explores the economic, cultural, demographic and social factors that influence demand for products and services.

Companies that have recently hired Moore School marketing majors include Google, Coca-Cola, TD Bank, Vanguard, Integration Point, Ingersoll Rand, Belden, Belk, Neiman Marcus, Textron Specialized Vehicles and Walt Disney.

According to a recent UofSC Career Center survey, the 2021 average starting salary for Moore School marketing graduates is $53,528.

All marketing majors also select a minor or an approved area of directed study.

Note that these are the 2021–2022 major requirements and are subject to change as the school regularly updates its curriculum in response to the evolving needs of the business community.

Marketing Business Analytics Concentration
Students may add the marketing business analytics concentration to their degree. This concentration requires four analytics courses with a maximum of one course double counting within your major.

Marketing students have opportunities to gain hands-on experience through the Moore School’s Center for Marketing Solutions, which provides results from student-led marketing projects that support an extensive list of corporate partners. Select undergraduate students are assigned meaningful roles in these research projects and emerge from the program with significant real-world experience.
Marketing faculty at the Moore School are widely recognized for their expertise in key subjects such as consumer behavior, marketing strategy, research methods, behavioral pricing and marketing communications.

Marketing Beyond the Classroom
Extracurricular areas to enhance your marketing degree include:

- Community Service: Some marketing courses (MKTG 453, MKTG 455, MKTG 465) include community service components in the curriculum
- Diversity and Social Advocacy: Sustainable Carolina, Diversity and Inclusion Council
- Global Learning: Some marketing courses (MKTG 350, MKTG 451) include global learning components in the curriculum
- Peer Leadership: American Marketing Association, Gamecock Consulting Club, Applied Analytics Club, Moore School Student Ambassadors, Beta Gamma Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi

Supply Chain Business Analytics Concentration
Students may add the supply chain business analytics concentration to their degree. This concentration requires four analytics courses with a maximum of one course double counting within your major.

The operations and supply chain major provides you with the competencies to systematically analyze and improve business processes in manufacturing, health care, services and their supply chains.

The Moore School's undergraduate operations and supply chain program is currently ranked No.5 in the nation and has one of the nation's best job placement rates. Key strengths of the program include outstanding faculty, a curriculum that is regularly updated to reflect the latest industry trends and extensive opportunities for students to gain hands-on operations and supply chain experience.

Operations and Supply Chain Spotlight: Lean Six Sigma Green Belt Certificate/APICS course work

The Moore School's operations and supply chain program is the only academic program in the nation that offers students the opportunity to earn an industry-validated Lean Six Sigma Green Belt certification. Earning Green Belt certification signals to employers that you are highly trained in the Six Sigma process improvement protocol that is in wide use in many industry sectors. Most operations and supply chain managers earn the Green Belt while on the job. Moore School operations and supply chain students who graduate with the Green Belt are prepared to bring added value to their employers from day one.

As an alternative, students may also enroll in our APICS professional certification preparatory program. This program delivers the first four-fifths of a curriculum that has been used to educate more than 75,000 professionals on essential terminology, concepts and strategies related to demand management, procurement and supplier planning, capacity requirements planning, master scheduling, performance measurements, supplier relationships, quality control and continuous improvement. Students graduate prepared to pass the first four modules of the APICS certification, “Certified in Production and Inventory Management.”
THE REAL ESTATE MAJOR

Risk Management and Insurance Spotlight: Gamma Iota Spotlight

The Moore School’s Lambda chapter of the Gamma Iota Sigma international risk management, insurance and actuarial science collegiate fraternity is large and active.

In addition to bringing in guest speakers and providing opportunities for students to network with industry professionals, Gamma Iota Sigma connects students to scholarships, internships and philanthropic activities and hosts social events and fundraisers.

DOUBLE MAJORS

AT THE DARLA MOORE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

There is often debate about the value of a double major when employers clearly value experience. The National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) surveyed employers in 2015 to assess which factors were influential in hiring decisions. Of the responding organizations, 72.4% stated that they preferred candidates with experience. Employers rated the influence of internships higher than candidates' majors. Holding a leadership position was also rated as equally influential as candidates' majors.

Unfortunately, students who often pursue double majors may not make time for internships or co-curricular activities because they are carrying a higher credit load or need to take courses during the summer.

If the choice is made to pursue a double major, we strongly recommend that one of the majors be a quantitative-based major (i.e., finance, accounting, economics or supply chain). The double major does still remain relevant in many cases (especially when it means an increased variety of transferable skills) but a pairing between qualitative and quantitative business majors may be more effective than overloading students with classes in two majors that focus on the same elements of business.

Employers highly value business experience when they consider offering full-time employment opportunities to students. Employers are very interested in what a student can immediately contribute to their team or division within their company on day one of employment. An internship is also a form of experiential learning that both allows a student to put theory into action within a corporate setting and also refine their individual career goals. The company that offers the internship also uses the internship experience as a 10- to 12-week “job interview” and they are able to observe the work skill sets and production and accuracy of daily work produced by the student. Employers are also able to utilize the internship pool as a pool of talent to fill their full-time employment needs.

The data below also indicates that students with internship experiences on their resume, also will be able to translate that summer work experiences into actual higher starting salaries of approximately $6,000. We encourage at least two functional area internships after both the sophomore and junior years. The majority of internships completed between the junior and senior years are most often used a screening for potential full-time job opportunities.

THOUGHTS
FROM MOORE SCHOOL STUDENTS

BRI R.
Senior, Marketing
“Coming to UofSC, I was initially an exercise science major. After realizing my passion for business, I switched into the Darla Moore School of Business my sophomore year. Immediately after joining, I was blown away by the caring professors, the quality of my classes, the opportunities available and how much the Moore School does to support you with your future endeavors. I took advantage of as many opportunities as I could to network and gain professional experiences. What I learned in my classes are not only interesting to me but also correlates to the professional experiences I have had, which helped me along the way. I was able to complete three internships during my college experience with help from the Office of Career Management for resume workshops and the Carolina Sales Institute for experience and exposure. I am so grateful for my experience with the Darla Moore School of Business; it has impacted my life immensely!”

JARED M.
Senior, International Business / Economics
“As a student majoring in international business and economics at the University of South Carolina, I have been able to combine my interests in complex world issues and intricate mathematics. These majors give me a great deal of flexibility with future opportunities because both dive into the other aspects of business like accounting and finance. Being a student that is not entirely sure of my future career, this gives me a lot of freedom in choosing my internships and job positions. Also, international business has opened my eyes to the various opportunities around the world whether it be with humanitarian issues or finding a lucrative spot in the market. One instance of this is the internship I have found with a global firearms procurement company here in Columbia through the Office of Career Management. I work to create licenses and investigate customers so that the company follows all laws and regulations while at the same time communicating with different clients from South America, Europe and Asia.”

EMILY S.
Senior, Marketing and Management
“I originally decided to pursue the field of marketing in my business section University 101 course freshman year. Coming into college, I knew that I was interested in business and had a passion for creativity, but I did not know how to integrate both into a career. As we explored majors in my U101 class, I learned that marketing was the perfect balance of the two! I soon added the entrepreneurship track in management as a second major. Management has given me the resources and community I need to properly showcase my artwork and sell my creativity throughout my career as a marketing professional. My favorite thing about marketing is that the field is endless; you can get involved in graphic design, event marketing, social media marketing, public relations, sales—the list goes on. I am so thankful for the Moore School and the resources and support it has provided me.”

KAMRYN P.
Senior, International Business
“I chose to study international business because I have a passion for other cultures and wanted to study finance from a worldly perspective. Through my time in the Darla Moore School of Business, I had the opportunity to study abroad three separate times. This was the most impactful part of my time at UofSC, and the experiences and lessons gained from those programs are those that I apply each day in my professional career. The Office of Career Management was instrumental in me finding my home at J.P. Morgan, as they not only prepared me for interviews but also provided exceptional guidance throughout my collegiate experience. If I had to give one piece of advice to Moore School students, it would be to start preparing for their futures early and to utilize the resources that the OCM has to offer!”
