The Gamecocks are not taken lightly! Get ready for the proudest group of students with the biggest spirit for the greatest team around!

GO GAMECOCKS !

Gamecocks Definitions/Survival Guide

Gamecocks: Official mascot. Fighting rooster known for its spirit and courage.

Cocky: The ubiquitous chicken seen all over campus, also known as a Gamecock.

Football (not soccer!): A game played with an oval ball (aka “pigskin”) using your hands the vast majority of the time instead of your foot. Saturdays will revolve around football events (see Tailgating).

Tailgating: Social event held on and around the open tailgate (this is the back area of a large truck), particularly at sporting events. A truck is recommended because of the sheer volume of food and beverages that are consumed, including chicken wings, nachos, fried green tomatoes... Really, just anything fried!

“The Bryce”: Williams Bryce Stadium (Capacity 85,000 people.)

Y’all: The combination of “you” and “all.” Just go with it.

Seasons in South Carolina: Summer and Not Summer.

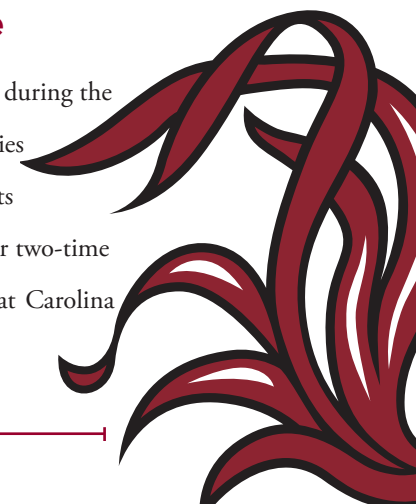

Shagging (not what you think!): The official dance of South Carolina.

Sweet Tea: Always associated with sugar and ice, and lots of both. Diabetics, beware!

What not to wear: Orange! This is the color of our rival university.

Experience the Gamecock Culture

American football is a popular part of the campus culture during the fall semester. Many students participate in parades and rallies on football game days. During the spring semester, students can enjoy a traditional American pastime by watching our two-time College World Series championship baseball team play at Carolina Stadium.
