

A path forward in the fight against COVID-19 – As the University of South Carolina focuses on providing a safe environment for students, faculty and staff, the College of Pharmacy continues to conduct Saliva Assay Free Expedited testing for COVID-19. From the Dean's Desk

As the university's SAFE testing efforts continue, I am increasingly in awe of the exceptional commitment of our SAFE testing team, based in the College of Pharmacy. Our efforts have been recognized on a national level, as evidenced by comments made by Dr. Deborah Birx, Coronavirus Response Coordinator for the White House, during her recent campus visit. Ambassador Birx praised the university's COVID-19 response model, noting that it is one to be shared nationally. Please join me in congratulating our faculty, staff, students, and partners for their hard work and important contributions to this success.
