Lisa M. Johnson, MBA

IRB Manager, Office of Research Compliance

Lisa Marie Johnson, MBA, CIM is the manager for the Institutional Review Board (IRB). Lisa provides the IRB and research community with regulatory support concerning the protection of human subjects in research. She assists investigators in understanding the ethical issues of involving human participants in research and in navigating the IRB application and review process.

Before joining the USC IRB, Lisa coordinated clinical trials, managed program project grants, assisted Principal Investigators with grant writing and the presentation of research study results. While working as an IRB Administrator at MUSC, Lisa assisted with the accreditation efforts, developed policies and procedures for the IRB and conducted training for IRB staff and the research community. Her interests involve the intersection of policy, administration, ethics and the human endeavor.
