ASPH – Office of Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion

Undergraduate Student Award for Excellence in Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Purpose: This award will recognize an outstanding undergraduate student who has made exceptional contributions to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) through Advocacy, Community Engagement, Research, and/or Practice.

Eligibility: This award is open to any undergraduate student in the ASPH (major in Public Health or Exercise Science).

Nomination Process: Applicants for this award must be nominated by a ASPH faculty member, ASPH advisor, or peer within the ASPH. The nominator must provide evidence on the applicant's commitment to DEI through advocacy, community engagement, research, and/or practice.

The final application packet should include the following components:

1. Nomination letter that provides evidence of advocacy, community engagement, research, and/or practice to support the contributions advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion.
2. Current Resume
3. Two additional letters of support from University of South Carolina faculty, staff, students, and/or community partners that speak to the Applicant's commitment to DEI. Please note letters of support should not exceed one single-spaced page in length and will be in addition to the letter of nomination described above.

Criteria: Applications should describe activities related to Advocacy, Community Engagement, Research, and/or Practice.

- Advocacy – Promotes diversity, equity, inclusion, dignity, respect, and social justice within the Arnold School, the University of South Carolina, and/or broader community.

AND/OR

- Community Engagement – Demonstrating engagement in efforts to eliminate inequities in the areas of public health or education. Efforts prioritize areas identified by community members and focus on functional, meaningful outcomes.

AND/OR

- Research – Conducting research focused on understanding and/or disrupting disparities experienced by marginalized groups (including but not limited to groups identified by race, ethnicity, national origin, language background, gender, sexual/gender identity, age, pregnancy and childbirth, religion, ability status, protected veterans, socioeconomic status, and/or immigration status).

AND/OR

- Practice – Integrating diversity, equity, and inclusion into practice (implementation of community programs, policy development, health education, clinical practice, or capstone experience).

Submission Process

Application packets must be combined into a single PDF document and submitted to dsellers@mailbox.sc.edu by Monday April 18, 2022. Please include the name of the nominee and "ASPH DEI Award" in the subject line of the email. The winner will be recognized on Monday May 2, 2022. This award includes a cash prize of $500.
