

2021 CCADMR SEMINAR SERIES

Female Scholars in Aging Research

Please join us for the next Carolina Center on Alzheimer's Disease and Minority Research (CCADMR) Research Education Seminar. Drs. Marvella Ford, Sue Levkoff, and Lesley Ross will discuss their experiences as female scholars in aging research.

Marvella Ford, PhD, is a professor in the Department of Public Health Sciences at the Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC), and Associate Director of Population Sciences and Cancer Disparities at the Hollings Cancer Center. Her research interests include cancer disparities, gerontology, and recruitment/retention of diverse populations in clinical trials. Dr. Ford is Co-Lead of the Research Education Component of the CCADMR.

Sue Levkoff, ScD, MSW, SM, is a professor in College of Social Work at the University of South Carolina and SmartState Endowed Chair for Community and Social Support (SmartHOME®). Her research focuses on gerontology, gerontechnology, and caregiver support. Dr. Levkoff is one of the Multiple Principal Investigators of the CCADMR.

Lesley Ross, PhD is an Associate Professor in the Department of Psychology at Clemson University. She is the SmartLife Endowed Chair in Aging and Cognition, and Director of the Institute for Engaged Aging and of the Study for Healthy Aging & Applied (SHAARP) lab. Dr. Ross' research expertise involves cognitive aging, interventions to maintain healthy aging, human factors, and applied everyday outcomes.

This event will be accessible remotely via live stream and archived for later viewing on the CCADMR website.
